TENSION IN NEAR EAST IS EASIER

HOPE IN SADDLE

Angora Ministry Approves Action Taken by Kemal Pasha in Agreeing to Enter Armistice Parley and Better Feeing Exists at London.

BOUILLON'S MISSION TO SMYRNA SUCCESS

Temporizing Note Issued by General Harington and Timely Arrival of Reinforcements for British Do Much Toward Relaxing Tension.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 2.—There was a relaxation today of tension over the Near Eastern situation.

The despondency noted in the press comment the last few days gave way to hope today although not to absolute confidence that war has been averted.

The bulk of the press opinion is that General Harington has saved Great Britain from war thus far and there are many eulogisms of his tact and skill, the hope being added that he will be left a free hand to deal with the situation until it is settled.

Action Is Approved

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Turkish nationalists assembly at Angora has unanimously approved the action of Mustapha Kemal Pasha and has authorized the dispatch of delegates to Mudania and later to the peace conference, according to a Central News dispatch from Constantinople.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2.—M. Franklin-Bouillon, peace envoy for the allies to Mustapha Kemal Pasha, returned yesterday to Constantinople from Smyrna on the French cruiser Metz,, successful in his mission of arranging an armistice conference.

He conferred with General Pelle, French high commissioner in Constantinople and is understood to have told him that only the most extraordinary efforts on his part prevented Kemal from acting rashly.

He made it clear to the nationalist leader that if war were renewed in the Near East it might spread to the whole of Europe and that the responsibility would rest entirely on Kemal.

Kemal Pasha's Reply.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—The text of Mustapha Kemal's reply to the allied joint note of September 23 was made public tonight by the foreign office.

The reply is dated September 29 and promises to stop immediately the military operations which have been developing toward Constantinople and Chanak "in pursuit of the Greek armies."

It accepts the proposal for an armistice conference at Mudania Tuesday with representatives of the entente and nominates General Ismid Pasha to act for the Turks.

GRANT CASH TO OUSTED RULER

New Greek Regime Refuses to Declare Constantine's Exile Only Temporary.

ATHENS, Oct. 2.—Before leaving Greece for exile abroad, Constantine, the abdicating king, asked the Greek revolutionary committee to declare his exile only temporary, but the committee refused, it was learned today.

The only concession made to the departing members of the royal family was the grant of $25,000 for expenses.

King George has issued a proclamation saying that his father's abdication is final and complete.

There have been two withdrawals from the cabinet. M. Politis refused the portfolio of foreign affairs and M. Diomedes rejected the post of minister of finance. The latter declined on the ground that the cabinet should be non-political.

The Serbian minister has promised the support of Jugo-Slavia to the new Greek administration.

The British minister visited headquarters of the revolutionary committee and it was believed that Great Britain will recognize the new regime on certain terms.

M. Romanos has been appointed new Greek ambassador to France, and M. Calamanos has been named Greek minister to London.

ACCUSES OFFICIALS

Certain Department of Justice Representatives Charged by Federal Grand Jury Have Appropriated Seized Liquor to Own Use.

DECLARES HIGHER UPS KNEW BOOZE TAKEN

In View of Circumstances Surrounding Case Decision Was Reached Not to Return Indictments Against Those Who Are Involved.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Certain unnamed "representatives of the department of justice" are declared in a federal grand jury report made public here today to have withdrawn quantities of seized intoxicating liquor from storage during 1920 without due process of law and to have disposed of a part of it by appropriating it for their own use and by gving it to friends and relatives.

The grand jury further held that the liquor in question, stored in rooms of the department of justice building and rented warehouses here was disposed of by such officers and employes with the sanction and approval of those in higher authority at that time." The report added, however, that in view of the unprecedented circumstances surrounding the case," it had been decided not to return indictments against those involved. The withdrawals were all said to have taken place prior to September 11, 1920

By evidence gathered it was established that although the intoxicants referred to were supposed to be forfeited to the United States," this forfeiture never had, in fact, been confirmed legally, because the seizures were not followed up with the necessary steps by department of justice officials.

LINCOLN POLICE NAB GENEVA TRIO

Officers Say They Found Many New Tools Under Automobile Seat.

Because Officer Nichols got curious when he spied a mud-covered license plate on a Ford car parked at Tenth and P streets, about 10.30 a. m., Monday, an investigation of the engine number showed it to have been tampered with, three Geneva, Neb., young men are in jail for investigation. The young men say they are Will Turner, 21; Ira Mills, 23; and W. A. Harrington, 25, all of Geneva. Schmitt assisted Officer Nichols in making the arrests.

At the station the three told the officers that they had stayed last night in northeast Lincoln, and that they had another car there. The officers went to the address given and brought this car to the station also.

According to the police, enough tools, brand new, of all kinds were found under the back seat of one of the cars, to stock a small hardware store. There were new saws, braces and bits, chisels, hammers, pliers, and window cutters and other tools, the officers said. In addition the police claim that they found several steel dies.

In the second car, the officers say they found three pistols, and hundreds of stamped envelopes, in addition to a number of suitcases filled with clothing.

According to Deputy State Sheriff Schmitt, several alleged fake bills of sale were also found.

The young men said that they had come to Lincoln Sunday night. Letters found in their possession were addressed to them at different places in Omaha, Kearney and other cities.

No charges have been filed against the youths, and the police say they will make a thorough investigation of the case, and that the explanations offered by the young men are not satisfactory. The numbers on their cars, according to the state auto registry, were issued to Mills and Harrington.

QUERYS M'KELVIE ABOUT HIGH TAXES

Irishman at O'Neil Nearly Spoiled Meeting by Questioning the Governor.

Wanted to Know Why Expenditures Had Not Been Reduced as Promised.

A witty Irishman came pretty near breaking up Governor McKelvie's meeting at O'Neill last week by interrupting the governor's speech while he was in the midst of his figures and charts explaining the code system of government and why the taxes are high.

"Governor, when you were here four years ago, making your first campaign, you roasted the democrats for spending so much money and promised us that if you were elected you would reduce the expenditures," remarked the Irishman. "Now, why haven't you done so."

Mr. McKelvie replied by saying that some of the most important items of expense had increased to such an extent as no one could anticipate, and because of this the state government had to spend more money.

"When I came into office," he said "the penitentiary had a population of 350, and now it has nearly 600 inmates. The Lincoln state hospital for insane had 600 patients then, and now it has about 1,000."

"Yes, and if you continue a little while, longer we'll all be in the insane asylum," was the shot hurled back by the inquirer.

The governor was unable to proceed with his speech for several minutes, due to the uproarious laughter which followed.

CLAIM ROAD MUST PAY FOR PAVING

Advised by C. Petrus Peterson, city attorney, in an oral opinion not made public, that the city could force the Rock Island railroad to pay for paving leading to its Holdrege street viaduct if the city should order the work done, Commissioner Bryan planned to force the matter to a final settlement at the Monday council meeting.

His resolution ordering the work done held up two weeks ago while the attorneys investigated the method the city would take to collect the cost of the project, something like $6,500, was expected to appear again and unless the representatives of the railroad appeared and agreed to do the work instanter, the council was expected to approve of Mr. Bryan's proposed resolution.

This matter brought the street department head and the deputy attorney into a heated argument last Monday but the giving of the oral opinion by Mr. Peterson ended that trouble. Mr. Bryan would not predict prior to the meeting, just what action he would urge.

The contract for the new 2,000,000 gallon reservoir at the Van Dorn station was to be awarded to W. J Assenmacher, the low bidder, for $81,000. Piping to this reservoir and extra work necessary will bring the total cost to about $33,000.

Ordinances ready for third reading and passage included one creating sewer district No. 243, one amending paving district No. 515, one vacating Thirty-first street between Van Dorn and Plymouth and one accepting the plat of the Franklin Park addition.

"Uncle Ezra" Makes Travel Comparison; Had Used Air, Oxen

CHICAGO, Oct. 2—Ezra Meeker, 92 years old, who traveled from Indianoplis to Seattle, Wash., seventy years ago behind a team of oxen, today recounted how he flew across the state of Washington at a mile a minute, a short time ago.

Meeker, more familiarly known as "Uncle Ezra," is attending the American electric railway convention here:

A bicycle, fifty-seven inches high was ridden by William Meehan, from Indianoplis to Chicago, and is one of the exhibits of obsolete means of transportation in the exposition held in connection with the convention.

State Committee to Concentrate on Douglas County This Week.

Speech by Roosevelt Is Chief Attraction in Long Program.

Plans are being made by the republican state committee to stage a big political demonstration at Omaha on Wednesday evening, when Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt comes there for his only speech in Nebraska. Spillman Talks to Members of Lincoln Ad Club

"It has almost reached the point in politics where a poor man can not run for office," said O. S. Spillman, republican candidate for attorney general, in a short address before the Lincoln Ad club at the Chamber of Commerce at noon Monday.

"Could Abraham Lincoln have been elected today?" Mr. Spillman inquired, and called attention to the few, and in every case, expensive means any candidate has of getting his qualification before the people. He asked the advertising men to work out a solution for this problem, as something which would be extremely valuable to society.

Walter L. Anderson, republican candidate for congress, and R. H. Thorpe, who is running for the short term, were also introduced by President O. F. Rempke.

Manufacturer Charged With Unfair Methods

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The federal trade commission today issued a complaint against the Cutler-Hammer Manufacturing company of Milwaukee, Wis., manufacturing electric controllers, charging unfair methods of competition by discriminating in prices in the sale of their product, regardless of any difference in the selling costs and not for the purpose of meeting competition.

The commission charged the company with diiding its customers into three classes, granting different discounts accordingly.

Soldiers of Lost Battalion Fail to Arrive in Lincoln

At 1:30 p. m., Monday nothing could be learned of the whereabouts of the company of soldiers from the famous Lost Battalion, which was due in Lincoln at 9 o'clock. The program as announced had a parade and maneuvers scheduled on O street at 9:30, with a fine exhibition at the university athletic feld from 1 to 5 p. m. As the company was coming overland from St. Joseph, Mo., it is presumed that some trouble delayed their arrival

Considering Plea by Rail Employes

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—The Chicago railroad labor board today in executive session took up consideration of the case of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and railroad shop workers, whose representatives appeared before the board recently and asked increased wages. Owing to the absence of two members a decision was not expected before Wednesday or Thursday.

STOCKMEN LOSE OUT

Interstate Commerce Commission Finds That Rates on Cattle Shipped to South Omaha Are Too Low at Present.

RATED DISCRIMINATORY AS TO OTHER POINTS

No Action to Be Taken Until Nebraska Commission Investigates and Determines on a Course of Action.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—An interstate commerce comission investigation into complaints of Missouri Valley shippers was declared in an examiners' report made public today to have indicated that railroad rates on livestock from Nebraska shipping points to Omaha and South Omaha yards are so much lower proportionately than rates of livestock from the same producing points to other packing centers at Kansas City, St. Joseph and Sioux City as to constitute an unjust discrimination.

The report, however, recommended that the interstate commerce commission withhold any action in the matter on the ground that the Nebraska state railway commission had under way an investigation which might result in such modification of the rates as would correct the discrimination.

This appears to be part of the program which has been set in motion to do away with the last vestige of freight rate reduction made in Nebraska fifteen years ago, under the Aldrich act passed by the legislature. The railroads claim that this cut of 15 per cent gave Nebraska shippers a relative advantage over those in other rstates, which still exists, although all live stock rates have been very materially increased since then.

Several years ago, the interstate commerce commission ordered the Burlington railroad to "equalize" rates from Nebraska points to Omaha St. Joseph, Kansas City and Sioux City. As usual ,the carrier fulfilled this order by raising the lower rates to Omaha, instead of reducing the higher rates to the other markets.

Must Boost Rates.

The Union Pacific ,however, is still on the old basis, and its rates in controversy in the recent proceedings. Presumably the examiner's report to the interstate commerce commission refers to these rates. If so, it means that the Union Pacific will be ordered, in effect ,to increase its rates to Omaha from many points in Nebraska.

This will, of course, in the payment of lower prices to live stock raisers at their home stations; an dif they ship their own animals they will have to pay more to get them to market.

The Nebraska commission has announced a hearing for October 23, looking toward a general readjustment of live stock rates and the correction of "maladjustments." This hearing was called after Commissioner Browne returned a week ago from Washington, where he held a conference with members of the interstate commerce commission.

PRESBYTERIANS DEDICATE CHURCH

Structure One of the Most Beautiful in Nebraska.

(Special to The Star.)

KEARNEY, Neb., Oct. 2.—Thousands attended the dedication of the new $100,000 Presbyterian church here Sunday at a series of three services held. Rev. W. J. Willis, pastor, was in charge, with Dr. Frank White, evangelist and the pastors of other Kearney churches assisting. All the protestant churches in the city cancelled their morning service in respect to the dedication exercises.

The new home of the Presbyterians is one of the most imposing structures of its kind in the state. It is constructed of Streeter embossed brick, with tile filler and trimmed in Carthage marble. The building is 110 by 80 feet, of three stories and contains a total of forty-six vestibules and rooms.

In the basement there is located a modern kitchen, with dining room facilities, a large social room, gym with showers and other features, a total of fourteen rooms. On the main floor are twelve rooms, which include the auditorium and two chapels, pastor's study and church library. The main auditorium seats one thousand comfortably and as many more can be accommodated by use of the Sunday school rooms on this floor. The gallery floor also has twelve rooms, including two chapels for Sunday school work.

The church was built by day labor, construction being supervised from laying of the corner stone to completion by the pastor and a building committee composed of members of the congregation. The interior finish is very attractive, red oak being used, with a light cream wall and ceiling tint. The windows are art type, with light colors and a beautifully designed and well lighted dome enhances the beauty of the auditorium. The pews and organ finish match the woodwork throughout.

KEMAL TURKS DO AN ABOUT FACE AND AVERT WAR

Moslems Yield to Pressure and Near East Situation Is Easier.

Peace Conference Likely to Follow Armistice Parley Set for Tuesday.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—While the Near East situation has cleared as a result of armistice conferences between the British and Turks at Mudan a tomorrow, British officials declared today that danger of war in Asia Minor is not yet completely past.

Great Britain will not assist in putting down any Greek uprising in Thrace unless the Turks leave the neutral zone along the straits.

Shipment of British reinforcements and munitions to the Dardanelles will not cease until the neutral zone is clear of Turkish soldiers.

General Sir Charles Harington, British commander-in-chief at Constantinople, will represent the British in the armistice conference.

France and Italy will be represented as well as the Turk nationalists. Arrangements for occupation of eastern Thrace by the Turks, neutrality of the straits and demilitarization of Constantinople will be discussed.

Constantinople reports that the national assembly at Angora is completing the Turkish reply to the allied peace note of August 23 and that it probably will be handed to the allied high commissioner in Constantinople on Tuesday.

All danger of a Turkish attack has been averted for the time being and there is a feeling of optimism in many quarters that the armistice negotiations will be quickly followed by arrangements for a peace conference, probably at Venice.

Pending the armistice discussions Kemal has promised not to attack Chanak for Contantinople and to order a suspension of Turkish activities in Thrace.

There have been riots at Rodosto and Adrianople.

State Tax Exceeds General County Levy in Otoe

Eleven thousand dollars more taxes will be paid to the state of Nebraska by the people of Otoe county, under this year's levy, than their own county government will cost them for general administration. This fact appears in the report of County Clerk Oliver Stevenson to State Tax Commissioner Osborne showing the taxes charged in Otoe county for all purposes. Stevenson is the first county clerk to make his report.

The total state taxes for Otoe, levied in 1922, is $133,294, while the general county tax amounts to $121,722. For road work, the county will collect $57,964 additional. Poll tax come to $8,727.

School taxes in the county will aggregate $273,208. Municipal taxes total $82,929, and the railroads will pay $4,495 additional to the cities and villages as terminal tax on their property.

SLIPS AWAY FROM GRASP OF POLICE

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—Interference by police and publicity of their findings prevented the capture of Harry Brenn, alleged to have stolen a girl's body from a cemetery and disposed of it in a fire to make it appear that Brenn has been cremated, Dr. Rolla Bracy, coroner, charged here today.

"The stage was set to arrest Brenn on Wednesday and this would have been accomplished had it not been for the interference of the St. Louis homicide squad," Dr. Bracy declared. "Wednesday noon, when they established to their own satisfaction that the body was that of a woman, the result of their investigation became public property and the news was published in the afternoon papers Wednesday. Naturally we did not catch Brenn."

Nyberg said:

CLEMENTS GRANTS ACCESS TO BOOKS

Attorneys May Inspect Records of Nebraska Building & Investment Company.

May Also Look Over Books of Nebraska Hotel Company.

District Judge E. J. Clements said Monday morning that he would order Sheriff Miller, temporary custodian of the properties and assets of the Nebraska Building & Investment company and the Nebraska Hotel company, to grant C. J. Campbell and C. C. Flansburg, attorneys for the corporations, free access to the books and records of the companies which were turned over to the sheriff last week by W. E. Barkley, who has had possession of them since he was appointed receiver of the corporation in January, 1921.

An amendment to the $875,000 damage suit, which was filed in district court Saturday by the Nebraska Hotel company against Barkley's bondsmen, will be filed sometime Monday afternoon, attorneys for the corporations stated. The amended petition will involve new parties as defendants in addition to the eighty-two bondsmen who have already been sued, and a correction of the total damages sought. The petition filed Saturday demanded judgment for $875,000, while the total of the various damages alleged amounted to $1,075,000. The attorneys said there was a mistake in addition and the amended petition would demand judgment for $1,075,000.

Within the next few days the former members of the board of directors of the corporation will have resigned and their places will be filled, it was stated. F. E. Schaaf has resigned as president and a director and H. L. Lohmeyer and J. H. Gore, directors, have tendered their resignations, and A. J. Schaaf is understood to have tendered his resignation as a director, according to Mr. Flansburg. The only other member left on the board of directors is George H. Walters. Lohmeyer and Gore's resignations were not accepted when they tendered them upon adviceof the corporations' attorneys, it being desired to take time to find persons among the preferred stockholders to fill the vacancies.

Motion For Continuance.

In a motion filed Monday by Attorneys Flansburg and Campbell for continuance of the hearing upon an accounting from the officers of the corporations the attorneys stated they were preparing to take such steps as will secure for the stockholders and corporations restitution of any misrepresented funds or properties. No demand has been made upon the present board to bring suits for the recovery of funds of the corporations improperly withdrawn or diverted, although the board as now organized stands ready to bring all necessary suits, and the attorneys stand ready to bring suits against any and all persons, whether officers, directors, employes or agents of the companies and are willing to do all in their power to prevent the loss of the properties, it was declared.

Next Thursday has been set as the tentative date for the hearing upon the accounting from the board of directors to ascertain if the stock held by them was obtained lawfully. The corporations are solvent and will be rehabilitated and conserved if the opportunity is afforded, declared Mr. Campbell.

Munger Fines Three for Violating the Federal Drug Act

Fines of $50 each were imposed in federal court Monday morning by United States Judge T. C. Munger on John Bye, of Lincoln, Charles Elliott, of College View and Everett Stanley, of Crab Orchard when they pleaded guilty to informations charging them with violating the federal narcotic act. The men were arrested last spring by Deputy State Sheriff Dick Fulton and Deputy United States Marshal J. C. McClung, while the officers were on the way to Crab Orchard. When first arraigned, several months ago, the men pleaded not guilty, but changed their pleas to guilty, Monday morning. Stanley told the judge that he was a farmer and that he had taken 'a shot'" and was with the other two men when arrested.

OPENS THE MUNY YARD

Commissioner C. W. Bryan Makes Sure of His Supply of Coal for the Winter and Is Ready to Take Orders.

FIFTY CENTS HIGHER THAN A YEAR AGO

Fuel This Year Coming From Central District of Illinois —City's Customers to Be Given Benefit of Any Price Reduction at Mines.

Announcement that the municipal coal yard would be open for orders on Tuesday, October 3, was contained in a statement made public Monday by Commissioner C. W. Bryan, who declared he had made sure of his supply and would begin taking orders from customers at once.

The municipal yard was created by an ordinance passed by the commission two weeks ago and the ten day period having elapsed without an appeal or referendum being sought, the yard is now legally functioning. Mr. Bryan a week ago was experiencing difficulty in getting a definite supply from Illinois of coal that he wanted and was expected to make arrangements to sell at least partly lignite coal from the west. The mu- that the boys had a right to be on coal altogether.

Price $11 a Ton.

Mr. Bryan's public announcement follows:

"The municipal coal yard office will open Tuesday morning, October 3 to accept orders for municipal coal to those who desire to buy. he price of coal to start with will be $11 per ton as far east as Thirty-third street, south to South street, north to Salt Creek, and west to the city limits. There will be an additional charge of 25 cents for coal delivered in the city up to a half mile beyond the boundaries indicated. The price of $11 a ton for Illinois lump is 50 cents a ton higher than the price fixed one year ago when the municipal coal yard started the first of October.

"The price of coal at the mines in Illinois has advanced more than $1.50 per ton, and while there is no excuse for it other than the coal trust has decided that it wants the additional money, they will charge the additional amount until the demand for coal slackens—which may reduce the price —or until the federal government takes action, which it could easily do, to prevent the plundering of the public.

Lower Freight Rate.

"The municipal lump coal to start will be the best lump coal that we can buy from the central Illinois district. I am purchasing the coal this year from the central district of Illinois in place of the southern district for two reasons, first—the mines in the southern district are only operated on about one-half time or less because the railroads are not furnishing them cars, which will make the supply very doubtful at this time. Second—The high grade central district coal which I am purchasing has

TWO ARE INJURED ON ELMWOOD ROAD

Car Goes Off Bridge and Lands Squarely Upside Down.

Another car went through the bridge on the Elmwood road about twelve miles east of Lincoln shortly before noon Sunday, and though the man and woman who were in the auto were not seriously injured, their escape is considered a remarkable one. They were a Mr. Phelps and wife of Knoxville, Iowa, and they were coming to Lincoln to visit their son. Their Studebaker sedan shot through the west rail of the bridge, which is located at a turn in the road and landed squarely upon its top in the creek bed, ten feet below.

Mrs. Phelps sustained a badly burned arm, a lacerated leg and a sprained ankle, while Mr. Phelps had several contusions on his leg. The top of the car is supposed to have saved them from more serious injury. They were picked up by a passing motorist and taken to Elmwood, where Dr. Liston administered first aid, after which they were brought to Lincoln.

Municipal Ferry Collision While Fog Covers Bay

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Running at reduced speed through a heavy fog, the municipal ferry boat, Brooklyn, plying between St. George, Staten island, and New York, collided with, or was run into by two freight barges in the upper bay. Seventy-five feet of railing on the starboard side of the ferryboat was ripped away and windows demolished. The 500 passengers, 200 of them women, were panic stricken for a moment but their fears were quickly allayed when it was found no one was injured.

CORN OUTLOOK IN NEBRASKA BETTER THAN IT HAS BEEN

Improvement Is Shown During the Past Two Weeks.

Bumper Crop to Be Harvested in Some Parts of the State.

A surprising unevenness in the condition of the corn fields over the state is found by Burlington officials examining the reports of their agents, and the semi-monthly crop report issued by the office of the general superintendent Monday indicates that the average yield may be better than anticipated taking the state as a whole.

The average of all divisions is found to be 74 per cent of a normal yield. The Omaha division reports an estimate of 90 per cent, which is four points lower than reported two weeks ago while the Wymore division is estimated at 74, which is 12 points higher than the former report. The Lincoln division at 62 and the McCook division at 72 remain as they were two weeks ago.

In many spots the corn crop is said to have fulfilled its early promise of a bumper yield. Around Columbus on the Platte river, for instance, the estimate is 40 bushels to the acre or 120 per cent. Twenty miles away the estimate is for 15 to 20 bushels to the acre, or not more than 50 percent of a crop. Along the Missouri river valley the corn received more moisture and makes promise of a fine yield West of McCook there was enough rain to make a good crop while east of McCook the corn is of poor quality and light in yield.

The Wymore division will show a light drop except along the Missouri river where it will be good to excellent.

Plowing and Seeding Retarded.

Plowing and seeding of winter wheat is not progressing as well as it should because of the almost universally dry condition of the soil in Nebraska. In the Omaha division and in part of the Lincoln division recent rains have improved this condition and made fall plowing and seeding possible. The Burlington officials will reserve their estimates on the probable winter wheat crop in the state until the next report.

The condition of pastures and meadows is poor, being dry and showing no late fall growth. Sugar beets will soon be harvested. Potato crop reports are unchanged since the last report.

The temperature for the period covered, from September 16 to October 1, ranged in the state from 38 to 89. No killing frosts were reported in the state during September

Rainfall for the two weeks is reported as follows. Fremont, .33; Central City, .49; York, .49; Auburn. 1.57; Holdrege, .29; O'Neill, 1.41; Columbus, .75. Lincoln, .36; Tecumseh, 2.05; Red Cloud, .52, Fairmont, .20; David City, .56; Sioux City, .36; Grand Island, .92.

HOLDS TO STORY GIRL SHOT SELF

Barrage of Cross-Questioning Fails to Break Down Creasy's Testimony.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Reiterating his contention that Miss Edith Lavoy pretty Freeport school teacher, shot herself in disappointment when he broke their engagement, William M. Creasy on trial for the girl's murder, resumed the witness stand today for cross-examination at the hands of District Attorney Weeks.

The prosecutor asked a number of questions calculated to review Creasy's life since his discharge from the navy and gradually led up to the shooting.

"I suppose Miss Lavoy loved you so that she killed herself, because you told her you would not marry her" the prosecutort asked.

"Yes, sir," Creasy replied.

Creasy said he had never told the girl directly that he wanted her for his wife, but that as a result of their friendship and correspondence she seemed to take his love for granted.

It was Creasy's third day on the witness stand. His cross examination opened Friday and probably will not be concluded until late today.

ROCK ISLAND TO PAVE APPROACHES

Holdrege Viaduct Improvement Program Is Outlined by Attorney Holmes.

Bridge to Be Reconstructed —Work of Paving Commences Soon.

The approach to the Holdrege street viaduct over the Rock Island, long a bad point in Lincoln's system of good connecting roads, is at last to be paved. In a letter to Fred W. Putney president of the Auto club, E. P. Holmes, attorney for the railroad company, states that the viaduct is to be rebuilt and new paving laid as soon as possible.

Civic agencies have been agitating for action on this matter for years Holdrege street is the great thoroughfare from the north into the city and the approach to the viaduct has been a common graded dirt road, inclined to be rutted, rough or muddy. Paving of this short stretch will especially please the state fair management, as the entrance to the grounds will be easily accessible by this route.

Letter to Putney.

Mr .Holmes' letter follows

September 30th, 1922

Mr. Fred W. Putney, President, Lincoln Automobile Club, Lincoln, Nebraska. Dear Mr. Putney—I have your letter of September 29 in reference to the paving of the approaches at the Holdrege street viaduct by the Rock Island.

The paving of these approaches is a duty that the Rock Island is compelled to perform under the law, and also is moved to do this work in the attempt to satisfy the people of Lincoln entering into the spirit of Lincoln's progress

We are compelled at this time to re-construct the viaduct ,raising it to the standard height and thus changing the grade to some extent The reconstruction of the bridge is now in the hands of our engineer ,and as soon as that work is done, the Rock Island will enter promptly upon the work of paving. Respectfully yours.

E. P. HOLMES, Attorney for Nebraska.

CHAPTER 762.

After Jim flung out of my office in the mounting rage that took possession of him when he learned of the note I'd negotiated with Mr. Fairbrother and his bank, I sat silent and stunned. I couldn't tell what Jim's going like this meant. I had no way of knowing whether or not it was in any way final. Nor did I dare let myself consider it too long or too deeply. I thought of the old quotation:

"That way madness lies."

Once upon a time I'd have given the day to balancing "pros and cons," to analyzing every possibility of the situation and weighing every phrase of Jim's conduct. Now the more things trouble me, the more I force myself to get down to the job.

Betty and Miss May went out at noon without coming in for the usual laughing "au revoir." This, I know, was a tactful bit of consideration. And I martyred myself by going without lunch rather than ask Frank to bring me the usual sandwich and coffee. Somehow I couldn't bear to asknowledge that Jim and I weren't lunching together.

I was deep in my work and lashing myself to an activity and interest which were definitely forced when a resounding knock at the door commaanded my attention. With a disgruntled summons to come in, I bent over my work, inhospitably. A voice streaked brightly across my dogged intentness:

"Anne, dear—won't you say you're glad to see—us?"

I got to my feet at the sound of Virginia's voice, but my eyes lifted a bit more slowly. On the doorsill stood Jeanie and Phoebe. They were hand in hand, standing shoulder to shoulder, and smiling at me timidly. For one second there was a blur across my eyes which shut out their faces and left only a silhouette there in the doorway. But even in the silhouette their hands were interwined and their shoulders touching. I stumbled forward and held out both my hands. Nothing came from my lips but a tender cry.

"Jeanie! Phoebe! You're BOTH here."

"Yes, dear," cried Jeanie's voice, all warmth and tenderness. "We're together—for always—now."

I felt her fingers on my wrist and then Phoebe's voice sobbed out with a funny little note of laughter running through it.

"She came and got me. Babbsie. Isn't she wonderful? My Jeanie! I've got my big sister again."

"And we both have you," said Virginia very quietly. "Will you ask us to sit down, please, so I can tell you about this—happiest day for all of us Harrisons'"

"I've no manners. I've nothing but a large gladness," I laughed a little mistily. "But sit down and just let me look at you for a minute and ache a little for sheer happiness. It's so beautiful to see you here—the two of you—like this."

"Let me tell," begged Phoebe, perching on the arm of Virginia's chair and laying her arm across the older sister's shoulders. "You are the heroine, Jeanie, and you wouldn't make yourself sound splendid enough. She was so sweet, Babbsie."

"Not as sweet as your Neal was generous," replied Jeanie quietly. "Anne I telephoned this morning. Just after you and Pat left. I wasn't brave enough to just go to Phoebe and risk the snubbing I so richly deserved. Neal answered the telephone. He knew my voice. And he was so tender and gentle and considerate in the way he accepted my ignoring him and asking for Phoebe. I heard him turn and tell her it was I and to be as loving and happy as she felt. After that it was all so easy."

"It was for Jim," said Phoebe quietly. We mustn't hurt Jim by—being apart. He mustn't even know we were apart, mest he, Babbsie?"

My eyes met Jeanie's and for a moment I didn't try to shut out from them the feeling of reproach I felt for all the hurt she'd given Phoebe and Neal. The fact that Phoebe would spare Jim the knowledge of what her own sister had made her suffer, just when she had the most right to happiness, seemed so fine and generous that I thought the little bride was worthy of some tribute. I wondered if Virginia would be generous enough to speak it.

"Anne," she said, with unwavering glance for the challenge in mine, "Phoebe's doing a big, brave, generous thing. She's sparing me the hurt of facing Jim's criticism—even his disgust. He loves Neal. He'll never understand the pettiness that could take so much affront at an elopement. From now on our brother's the head of the Harrison family. But—will you be as wonderful to the abdicating queen as Phoebe is "

Taking their hands in mine, I smiled down at Jim's sisters.

"You, dears," I said huskily, "This is a wonderful moment—and our secret for always."

"Then you don't think—for my punishment or the good of my soul—or whatever it is—that Jim must know?" asked Virginia anxiously.

"Not at all." I replied positively. "You two have found each other again. Why worry Jim with the knowledge that you once drifted apart? I actually don't think it's fair to burden him with every bit of news concerning us all. He's been away, going through enough hard times. Why shouldn't he come back to whatever serenity we can give him?"

"You're a wonderful woman," said Virginia looking at me strangely.

"I wonder what part independence and responsibility have played in giving you your new pose—and the sort of generosity men show always and women display only once in a while?"

"I'm growing, I guess," I replied laughingly. "I hope I'm not going to be petty or narrow or self-centred ever again. But that's a large order. Maebe I won't always make good on the job."

Phoebe and Jeanie exchanged glances. here was something very definite in the message that passed between them. But I was thinking less of the moment than of the fact that I'd been commissioned to arrange a family party for the evening and had worried over the Jeanie-Phoebe problem. Now the difficulty was of another sort by far. Here was Jeanie and Phoebe together—reunited.

But I didn't know whether Jim and I were reunited or much further apart then when he was down on the Cordova Rancho in Mexico. I dared not arrange for the dinner, I hardly dared intrude at the luncheon. Then Virginia's voice brought me back from conjecture to realit.

"Anne, dear I know you're big enough to forgive us for not asking you to join us at lunch. You see, dear, Neal and Pat are also omitted. It's just Harrison. You're Harrison, too, dear. But this Jim and his sisters—our youth together and the clan feeling somehow needs expression without even our nearest and dearest. You don't mind, do you?"

"Just Jeanie and Jim and I. You ed Phoebe.

"Of course I'm not." I said heartily. "Run along, you dears."

Revolt at Juarez Blamed on Morais Along Boundary

SAN ANTONIA, Tex., Oct. 2.—Troops under the personal command of General J. J. Mendez returned today from their pursuit of Captain Jesus Valverde, who led the revolt of the troops in the Juarez garrison Saturday.

Valverde and approximately 450 men who accompanied him made good their escape in the foothills south of Juarez.

The troops that revolted with Valverde were brought from Mexico City by Secretary of State Call to Juarez when he made his trip to Agua Prieta a few weeks ago. At that time he ordered the Juarez garrison transferred to Chihuahua City. The revolting troops were his picked men from the capital.

President Obregon in an interview published in Mexican papers here blamed the moral conditions of the border for the Juarez revolt. He declared that troops should not be permitted to remain at border stations over three months.

Soviets File Protest Against Blockade Way Through the Dardanelles.

(Associated Press.)

MOSCOW, Oct. 2.—The soviet Russian government has sent a note to England, France and Italy, protesting against the blockade of the Dardanelles, and instisting upon removal of all restrictions to the free passage of trading ships through the straits.

Categorically "protesting against the blockade fixed by England without Russia's knowledge and gainst Russia's interest," the note cites that this action was taken while Russia was endeavoring to re-establish her own economics, destroyed by war and intervention and after unsuccessful attempts by the European countries to re-establish the world's economics through the Geno and Hague conferences.

"The Russian government," the communication continues, "has placed orders with European countries and America. The majority of these already are loaded upon ships which are designed to be sent through the straits to the Black sea ports."

TO ARRANGE FOR FUTURE MINE PAY

Union Men and Operators Meet in Accordance With Agreements

(Associated Press.)

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 2.—Bituminous operators and officials of the United Mine Workers of America gathered here for a joint conference this afternoon to arrange for future wage scales in accordance with an agreement signed here August 15, which ultimately brought to an end the soft coal strike.

Approximately 100 operators from the bituminous field accepted the invitation sent out ten days ago by John L. Lewis, president of the miners' union and T. K. Maher, local operator who was chairman of the joint conference last August. The miners' representation includes their policy committee, numbering 128.

In addition to opening negotiations for a wage scale to supplement that which expires March 31, 1923, the conference is expected to take up the question of collective bargaining.

The Cleveland agreement provides for the appointment of two committees at today's conference, one to investigate the industry and the other to formulate a method to be followed in negotiating new wage contracts at another meeting next January.

At least one group of operators—the Illinois coal operators association—has announced that it will seek to prevent any arrangement which would conflict with the recommendations of the fact finding commission which President Harding is about to appoint to investigate the industry.

Freedom of the foot is Delightful

In Cantilever Shoes you feel a new sense of freedom when you walk. Your step seems lighter and you swing your weight from one foot to the other with a rhythm and comfort which enhances your endurance. Walks that were tiring and difficult to take in ordinary shoes become easily possible with the aid of Cantilever Shoes. Health and comfort walk with you.

Designed for Comfort.

The last is patterned from the outline of the foot. The natural inner sole line provides room for the toes and allows them to point straight ahead. This and the well-set heel encourage correct posture. In Cantilevers the weight is distributed so that there is no strain on the arch of the foot.

And the shank of the shoe flexes! With every step, the shoe yields with the foot. The muscles have free play, they exercise and grow strong. Cantilevers correct and prevent flat foot because they strengthen the muscles that surround and uphold the small bones of the arch.

Trim oxfords in black and brown leathers and in white linen; also high shoes and pumps.

SPEAKS IN FAVOR OF SHIP SUBSIDY

Shipping Board Man Wants Republican Senators Elected.

Says That Such Result Will Encourage President With Bill.

(Special to The Star.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Oct. 2.—Commissioner E. C. Plummer of the United States shipping board spoke here today in advocacy of the ship subsidy bill now pending in congress, his evident purpose being to overcome if possible the hostility known to exist in this section of the country to the measure which is being urged by the administration, and whose unpopularity is believed to threaten republican members of congress and aspirants for seats therein with defeat.

Commissioner Plummer endeavored to show that producers and shippers in this section of the country are as vitally interested in the shipping bill as are the ship owners and in the same way and that all of the opposition is the result of British and other foreign propaganda. He said that government aid alone can enable American ships to regain their proper position on the seas and that this fact is recognized by well informed people not only in this country but abroad.

The speaker apparently sought to convey the impression that the British are represented in the congressional campaign now in progress in this country, saying: "Obviously they (the British) propose to fight this bill in the present campaign to show President Harding that the people of the United States are not behind him for American shipping legislation; they and their unconscious as well as conscious servants are to do all in their power to secure an adverse decision on election day."

Especial attention was directed by the commissioner to the senatorial election campaign and his hearers were given to understand that the election of republican candidates would encourage the president to push the subsidy bill, while the success of democratic aspirants would have the opposite effect. He said that the British expect or hope to defeat the measure in the senate.

Commissioner Plummer is making a tour of this section of the country in the interest of the subsidy bill and will speak in Lincoln on Wednesday. Who is paying the expense of the campaign tour is not stated.

INSTITUTE HOLY TRINITY RECTOR

Charge Given to Rev. Arthur P. S Hyde by Bishop Shayler Sunday.

The Rev. Arthur P. S. Hyde was instituted as rector of Holy Trinity church, Twelfth and J streets, by the Rt. Rev. Ernest Vincent Shayler, D. D., bishop of Nebraska, at a service of unusual character Sunday morning. The musical parts of the service were very beautifully and devotionally rendered by the parish choir under the direction of Miss Jude Deyo. At the Holy Eucharist, which followed the institution, the rector was the celebrant, and was assisted by the Rev. L. W. McMillin, university pastor.

Bishop Shayler preached the institutional sermon in which he laid stress upon the relationship between pastor and people, closing with a charge to the new rector in the following words: "My brother, you have been privileged to become the rector of a most delightful people in a most delightful city. You have succeeded a man of decided attainments and great popularity. You have assumed a tremendous obligation as rector of Holy Trinity, but you will be sustained by the cooperation of your people, the full sympathy and support of your bishop, and the grace of God. You are not here to minister only to the elect in your congregation, but to be a servant of God to the entire community. You are to stand for the real and the unseen. Your loyalty will never allow you to temporize or juggle with truth. Don't strive for popularity at the cost of principle, and don't be satisfied with compromise when righteousness is at stake.

"In this Apostolic church, situated between fortified dogmatism and erratic radicalism, you find your sphere of teaching service. Definite, yet loving, must you give your Master's message to a world that in religion is cursed with flabby creeds, shallow thought and sentimental spirituality. You are to be an officer in that army which can quell the struggles, strife, dissensions and unrest of the world. You are to be a leader in powerful prayer and arduous effort, to save education and commerce, to sanctify society and the home, to make the kingdoms of industry, finance, art, literature, music, love and leadership, become the kingdom of our Lord and His Christ.

"To the prophet's house, your home, may the weary, troubled and tempest tossed fined their way, and the answer to their deepest cravings. To the Lord's Table may they all be led to feed upon spiritual verities. From the Lords house may they go with faith, inspiration and determination to do service for their brothers.

"You will have to be a light in the darkness, a voice of melting pity in a hard world, a witness for the loving Christ, who is the only hope of all the world.

"Brethren, as he assumes this task with enthusiastic faith, let him be supported by your holy, undying and prayerful love."

Soviets Say Will Occupy Vladivostok by Middle October

VLADIVOSTOK, Sept. 27.—(Delayed.)—Communists here predict that soviet forces will occupy the city by the middle of October.

This will be facilitated by the Japanese commander's reduction of the neutral zone of Ugolnaia station after October 6. Thus the Primora government will be left to its own resources and the reds will be relieved of their fear of Japanese intervention.

Soviet troops are concentrating on the northern frontier ready to move when the Japanese evacuation is completed. Whites and Reds have clashed in a few skirmishes. The strictest censorships prevails.

Vladivostok is full of refugees from districts evacuated by the Japanese. There is anxiety regarding a number of American marines on the Siberian mainland opposite Sakhalien island. General Dieterichs, the White commander at Vladistok had declared a blockade against the mainland from which the Japanese have just completed their withdrawal.

SCOUT REPORTS JUSSERAND WILL STAY IN FRANCE

Talk Ambassador to Be Ousted Not Credited at National Capital.

Washington Officials Say That Frenchman Stronger at Home Than Ever.

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Little credence was placed here today in revived reports that Julas Jusserand, the French ambassador, would not return to his post in the United States after his vacation in France.

While it is known M. Jusserand has many enemies who have circulated rumors of his recall officials here stated that the ambassador probably is in a stronger position with the French government now than he has been for years.

Predictions were freely made today in official and diplomatic circles that he will return to Washington unless some radically different alignment of political forces should occur in France.

During the nineteen years that M Jusserand has held the Washington post, making him the dean of the diplomatic corps here, reports have been in circulation at least a dozen times that he was to be ousted. These reports are said to have been prompted by political enemies in France, who have endeavored to make it appear that Jusserand has not given his government a correct view of American public opinion and that he had not presented to the American government and people a correct picture of France and her aims.

Viviani Unfriendly.

Rene Viviani, former premier, and a member of the French delegation to the Washington armament conference is regarded as distinctly unfriendly to Jusserand. Viviani is said to blame Jusserand for the fact that France during an important stage of the negotiations at the conference was placed in an unpopular attitude and he is understood to have requested the withdrawal of Jusserand.

Louis Loucheur, who was minister of the devastated regions under Premier Briand, has been mentioned as a possible successor of Jusserand, but all information here indicates that Jusserand is in favor with Premier Poincare. It is known also that M Parmentier who is regarded in direct line for the position of minister of finance, who stands high with nearly all political factions in France, has been exceedingly well pleased with the manner in which Jusserand is received in official Washington.

Jusserand has a happy faculty of getting along well with all American administrations. He is credited, too, with a number of real victories in the various negotiations between the French and American governments and in many quarters, there is a tendency to give him a good share of the credit for bringing the United States into the war on the side of the allies.

Early Decisions on Liquor Cases by High Tribunal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Attorney General Daugherty within a few days will render to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon an opinion which will clear up most of the involved questions which have arisen relating to liquor smuggling it was earned today. An important part of the opinion will deal with the sale of liquor aboard American shipping board vessels. The attorney general has decided not to wait until the supreme court passes on the question raised.

The department of justice, it was announced today, will authorize the solicitor general to expedite the hearing of the case of the British schooner Grace and Ruby which was seized off the Massachusetts coast last winter, inside the twelve mile limit with a cargo of liquor.

Judge Morton at Boston in whose court a conviction was secured under the 'hovering act has certified the case to the supreme court. The attorney general declared that the government is anxious to aid in every way for an early decision by the highest court.

Amundsen Will Hop Off on Pole Flight Next May

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 2.—Word direct from Capt. Roald Amundsen that he and his pilot Lieut. O. Omdahl, will "hop off" from Wainwright, Alaska, the latter part of May or the first of June to fly across the North Pole to Spitzbergen, was brought to Seattle today by E. J. Ward, government school teacher at Wainwright.

Amundsen plans, Ward said, to make the flight of approximately 1,700 miles across the pole in one jump, carrying for subsistence only a thermos bottle of hot tea and a sandwich. When he left Wainwright, Ward said, Amundsen and Omdahl were building their winter quarters, a cabin on the beach near the school house. They are well supplied with food and fuel for the winters, having killed two whales, some walrus and seal and having a reindeer herd of 4,000 and a coal mine nearby.

By the middle of May, according to Ward, the days are so long in that latitude that it is practiable to make photographs at midnight. The schooner Maud, Amundsen's exploration ship, according to Ward, is drifting northward in the ice floe at such speed that the explorer was of the opinion that it might cross the pole and reach Spitzbergen in a year. The Maud is provisioned for seven years.

Rebels Suffer a Serious Defeat

DUBLIN, Oct. 2—Two Free State soldiers were killed and seven others wounded in an ambush attack by republican irregulars in County Kerry early today.

Irregulars are reported to have suffered a serious defeat in fighting with Free Staters in county Cork. The action is continuing in the hills.

Soldiers and police are searching for one of four raiders who forced their way into the public house of Patrick Cosgrave, shooting him dead when he tried to eject them. Cosgrave was an uncle of William T. Cosgrave, president of the dail eirean and virtual head of the Irish provisional cabinet.

Oppose Branches of National Banks

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—On the eve of what promises to be the largest and most important—the forty-eighth annual—convention of the American bankers' association which opens today independent bankers representing all sections of the country met in preliminary session Sunday and planned a campaign to put the gathering on record against the establishment of branch banks by the larger national banking houses.

Crew of Grounded Steamer Is Saved

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The United States steamship Quaker City is ashore off the coast of Aberdeen. It is reported the vessel will be a total loss. The captain and two members of the crew remain aboard. The others have been taken off.

HOSPITAL INMATE TAKES OWN LIFE

Dorn Places Head Across Rail in Front of Switch Engine.

Charles Dorn, 43 years old, who was sent to the state hospital for insane in Lincoln from Omaha about six months ago, committed suicide about 3 p. m. Sunday by placing his head across a rail in front of a Burlington switch engine near the sheep yards at the institution. The locomotive severed Dorn's head from his body. Dorn attempted to take his life about a month ago by hanging, it was said.

Dorn escaped from an attendant on Sunday afternoon while out on the lawn with several other patients. He fled into a thicket and evaded the searchers.

According to M. M. Durham and Ed Maughan, of Lincoln, who had been out hunting, Dorn rushed to the switch yards of the Burlington and threw himself onto a rail ahead of an engine. The hunters said they probably could have saved the man, but they had no idea he was intending to commit suicide. The engine, which was switching some cars in the yards and eight cars passed over the body. None of the train crew saw Dorn in time to prevent the tragedy.

Dorn's body was brought to Spahn & Schnell's funeral parlors. The body will be taken to Omaha for burial. Dorn is survived by a widow.

Comb Country for Captain Val Verde, Mex. Revolt Leader

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 2.—Several authorities on both sides of the border today are searching for Capt. Feliciano Val Verde, leader of the revolt of the forty-third regiment in Juarez Saturday morning which was smashed by General J. J. Mendez, garrison commander.

Belief that he had escaped to El Paso where it is said he has friends and relatives was strengthened when three horses taken from the regimental stable by Captain Val Verde were found at 11 o'clock this morning. One of the horses was identified as that ridden by the captain during the battle.

Fifty-nine soldier prisoners will be taken to Chihuahua City for trial by a military court, General Eugenio Martinez, commander of the northern military zone, announced. While the General would not hazard a statement as to what the finding probably would be, court-martial of rebel forces often results in execution.

Juarez was restored its old joie de vivre tonight. Streets were crowded, while cafes and saloons did a rushing business. Save for gossip on the street there was no indication that a portion of the garrison had revolted Saturday morning and had been defeated in a three hour battle about the customs house.

New Process of Fighting a Blaze Must Be Secret

OLEUM, Cal., Oct. 2.—To a new process of fire fighting officials today attributed the control of an oil fire which resulted last night when two 55,000 barrel tanks of the Union Oil company was struck by lightning in a violent electric storm which swept Contra Costa and Solano counties. The roof of one of the tanks was blown off. A heavy downpour of rain assisted fire fighters in preventing the flames communicating to 100 big tanks in the vicinity holding approximately 2,000,000 barrels of oil. For hours the blazing tanks lit up the skies for miles around. Hundreds of automobilists were held up because of the terrific heat at the roadside.

Opera Stars Praise Tanlac

Mme. Rosina Agostini, soprano, and Sig. Guiseppe Agostini, tenor, noted opera stars, who declare their stomach troubles have been completely overcome since taking Tanlac.

"If ever a person felt like they had been made over I am that person, thanks to Tanlac," declares Mme Rosina Agostini, noted leading soprano of the San Carlo Opera Co., residing at Hotel Grenoble, New York City.

"I suffered from a nervous rundown condition and got so I dreaded to face my audiences. But as soon as I started taking Tanlac I began to improve, and now I am perfectly normal."

The expetience of Mme. Agostini's husband, Sig Guiseppe Agostini, famous leading tenor of the same troupe, also shows the value of Tanlac as a tonic and stomach corrective. He said:

"My stomach went back on me and I soon got into pretty bad condition. I followed my wife's example and took Tanlac. It helped to fix me up in a short time, and now I always feel fit."

PASTOR LECTURES ON YOUNG MEN

Letters From Young Men From Basis for Dr. Holmes' Talk.

Home Type Favored—Stress Health, Common Sense and Tact.

Dr. John Andrew Holmes' discussion on, "The Right Kind of a Young woman," based on letters written by young men,drew an overflow audience to the First Congregational church on Sunday evening.

Last week Dr. Holmes delivered a companion talk on, "The Right Kind of a Yong Man," using short letters received from five girls. Sunday he had nine lengthy letters from men, outlining the type of girl they would like to marry.

The girls had specified thirty-nine qualities. The men adopted these qualities and demanded in addition several more. Dr. Holmes remarked that men seem to be more particular.

While the letters last week did not mention smoking, the men grew sarcastic over the prevalent use of the lip stick and similar articles. One writer drew attention to what the world owes to woman. "John Wesley was driven from his home by his wife and founded a great church," he wrote. "Rip Van Winkle left a scolding wife to sleep twenty years, and gave us a great book. Dante looked at Beatrice and wrote a masterpiece."

Some of the things men desire in young women, according to the letters, are health they must be becomingly but not over-dressed, alert, mentally and spiritually, have common sense and tact, one accomplishment that they can really do well, and above all, they must be of the home type

In closing his sermon Dr. Holmes said, "In terms of the richest affection, in terms of slowly maturing but everlasting gratitude, in terms of the most permanent satisfaction, the largest salaries in the world are drawn by mothers."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The department of labor will urge congress to pass the Johnson and Shortridge bills providing for the registration of aliens as the only means of preventing foreigners from being smuggled into the United States, it was announced officially today.

Immigration officials estimated that 40,000 Chinese are now in the United States illegally.

Tiernan Denies Bringing Liquor Here From Omaha

Chris W. Tiernan, 55, who says he is a carpenter, entered a plea of not guilty in police court Monday morning to a complaint charging him with illegal possession and transportation of liquor, and Police Judge H. J. Whitmore continued the case to 9 a. m., Tuesday. Tiernan's bond was fixed at $200.

Tiernan was arrested at 2:05 a. m., Monday at the Rock Island depot shortly after he stepped off an Omaha train. Officers Joe Rymer and Clyde Waite made the arrest. Tiernan has a black grip in which, according to the officers, were found 24 pints of hooch.

According to Officer Rymer, Tiernan got off the train and made for a taxi standing at the curb. He threw the grip into the taxi and started to get in when Rymer caught him by the arm.

McKelvie's Salary Raise Only $10,000

In referring to the increased amount of salary drawn by Governor McKelvie since the new constitution went into effect, The Star stated erroneously that by the end of his four-year tenure he would have received $13,000 more than governors who served before him drew in the same length of time.

The actual increase of salary during Mr. Mckelvie's incumbency amounts to only $10,000. During his first term he drew $2,500 a year, which was the same pay former governors got. For 1921 and 1922 his salary has been $7,500 a year.

All Suspects in Jersey Killings Under Eye Police

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 2.—Of all the persons under suspicion at one time or another in the double murder of Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, wealthy rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and his beautiful choir leader, Mrs. James Mills, not one has been eliminated, Prosecuting Attorney Beekman of Somerset county declared today.

Although it has been sixteen days since the bodies were found on the lonely Phillips farm two miles from this city, no arrest has yet been made.

Prosecutor Beekman said that "five or six lines of investigation were being followed by municipal and county detectives, and the New Jersey state police."

It was expected that the bottom of the well on the Phillips farm would be dragged this afternoon in hope of finding the gun or knife with which the victims were killed.

Fashion Says CURTAINS

must have a decorative touch

The present vogue in window decoration is for a net curtain carrying some touch of distinction.

This desired decorative touch may be found in the character of the net itself, as in the case of such nets as Quaker Filet Grandee, Sampler Lace, Shantung Net, Casement Lace, etc.—or, it may be supplied by the use of a fringe or other attractive trimming on the more standard filet grounds. In either case the result is a delightful curtain. During HOME CRAFT WEEK, October 2nd to 7th we are displaying distinctive examples of this latest vogue in decoration

Moreover we are also showing the most beautiful line of merchandise we have ever selected for your approval. Be sure to see such novelties as:

The New Fringed Curtains

For example the New Quaker Casement NET Curtains, trimmed with attractive fringe. We have them in net-ground, and prices to suit every need, from $2.25 to $2.75 the yard. Here are some items we are featuring.

Shantung Net

Just a Breath of the Orient.

We call the delightful Quaker Shantung Net a breath of the Orient because it has been touched by the Spirit of Eastern Originality from which has been eliminated that bizarre quality which makes much of the oriental art objectionable in American homes. Shantung Net makes an ideal curtaining. At $1.50 to $2.50.

Crochet Tuscans

(Hand Finished)

Here's the latest development of the genuine Quaker Tuscan Net which took the decorators by storm a season or so ago. The virile, masculine effect of the original Tuscans is still further emphasized by the hand-crocheted effect of this new line. At 69c to $1.50.

Sampler Lace

For Colonial Rooms

The problem of decorating the colonial room has been to get a curtaining quaint and colonial in spirit, yet light and transparent to meet the need of modern windows and well heated homes where it is no longer more important that a curtain keep out the cold than to let in the light. Sampler Lace is the ideal solution of this problem At $2.50 to $3.00.

Mr. Otis Skinner Selects Quaker Filet Grandee

In the decoration of his home, Mr. Otis Skinner has shown the same masterly appreciation of values which has given him his enviable place on the American stage. The sure, sensitive touch of an artistic nature is apparent in every detail.

For the windows of his immense studio living room, Mr. Skinner has selected curtains of Quaker Filet Grandee, whose picturesque old-world air reflect the rich dignity of the room.

Mrs. Lydig Hoyt Uses Sampler Lace to Accent the Colonial Charm

of Her Country House at Woodbury, L. I.

A picturesque low-ceilinged house—antique furnishings—that is a charming combination at any time. Under the magic touch of Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, it becomes unbelievably alluring.

Mrs. Hoyt understands perfectly the law of harmony in decoration, and has carried out the colonial spirit of her home with careful attention to detail.

In her bedroom she uses quaint patterned Quaker Sampler Lace, which appears not only at the windows, but in the canopy and valance of the high four-poster bed, also on the little dressing table.

"PROTECTION" THAT DOES'T PROTECT.

One of the best jokes of the season—politically speaking—is the tariff on potatoes under the new Fordney-McCumber bill.

This was one of the things put into the bill by the republican managers at Washington to furnish republican senators and representatives from Nebraska and other agricultural states an excuse for helping to give millionaire manufacturers of the eastern states what they were demanding in return for their campaign contributions in 1920.

The duty on potatoes is fixed at 50 cents per 100 pounds. This surely should be enough to keep out the pauper Canadian, Irish and South American potatoes that would otherwise come in and demoralize the market for American potato growers.

But some way or another, it isn't working as advertised. Nebraska potatoes are bringing the producers only 50 cents per 100 pounds gross—the lowest price in a number of years, and a good deal lower than when there was no tariff at all upon them. It looks as though the tariff wasn't doing them much good.

But when it comes to buying clothing, shoes, dress goods and other manufactured products, the potato growers will find that the tariff ist getting in its work.

There have been farmers who bought gold bricks from confidence men. In this case, the gold brick was handed to them as a present from the republican senators and congressmen who enacted the Fordney-McCumber tariff.

It is much the same way with corn and wheat. The prices of those commodities fell rapidly after the Fordney emergency tariff law was passed, giving them "protection" from Canadian and Argentine competition. They are now down to a pre-war basis, and the duties of 15 and 30 cents per bushel which the new tariff bill carries on them don't seem to be helping a bit.

And yet there are some republican campaign orators who imagine they can go out and fool the farmers of Nebraska again by talking about a tariff ona gricultural products.

NO WEDDING BELLS FOR SLIM.

Will Slim Pickens be able to avoid the matrimonial snare being laid for him by Betsy Bump and her crafty Uncle Bill? That question is absorbing public attention nowadays, along with the incidents of Andy Gump's campaign for congress.

Slim's chief trouble used to be how to dodge his landlady and his creditors. Now he seems to be in better financial circumstances, but is in danger of being grabbed off and led to the altar by a dame of portly dimensions and voracious appetite. And if that happened, what would become of his stand-in with Miss Vera de Vamp, the actress, and sundry other females in whose society he finds so much solace?

We hope and trust that Mr. Pickens will succeed in keeping out of Betsy's clutches. It would be too bad to put him on the shelf with the married men, when there is so much going on to interest a person of his social capabilities. We want to say to the artist who draws the pictures that if he lets Slim get caught we are going to hire Ignatz Mouse to slam him with a brick from Kelly's yard.

The Jiggs family furnishes an ample supply of domestic difficulties. There is no need of marrying Slim to Betsy and giving us another hen-pecked husband. Let Slim stay single and keep up his old gait, and we'll all be satisfied.

Here's hoping and trusting that the plot of Betsy and Uncle Bill will fail miserably and that Slim Pickens may be preserved for many future episodes with his creditors and his feminine admirers.

NEITHER PINS NOR HAIRPINS.

Ther is humor mixed with the tragedy in the reports that come from troubled Russia. Some of the hardships the women of the country have undergone and are undergoing are outlined in a recent dispatch from Samara.

For four years the Russian women, it is said, have gone without pins or hairpins, not only because of poverty but because such articles were not to be had at any price. The average woman of America may think little of the importance of these two staple items in "milady's" toilet but a trial of one day without them might convince the skeptical.

Many of the Russian women have consequently bobbed their hair, it is explained and the prevalence of typhus there has increased the percentage of short-haired women. Others have learned as has one woman mentioned in the dispatchs, to do their hair up with three hair pins.

Now, the dispatch goes on to tell, women can buy pins and hairpins at a nominal sum like two million rubles—or in American money, fifty cents. The Russian working woman earns from fifty to seventy-five million rubles a month, but even this magnificent sum, which amounts to twelve to eighteen dollars a onth, does not permit her to buy two million ruble hairpins.

The Russian woman has likewise been forced to do witout new clothing, owing to the fabulous sums demanded for even the cheapest goods, cotton at one and a half million rubles a yard and wool at fifteen to twenty million rubles a yard. The result, it is said, is a colorful combination of the old dresses, put together to make one new garment, often with effects that are startling but not altogether displeasing. Stockings refooted, shoes patched until they resemble mosaims and other makeshifts for clothing, are resorted to by the wealthy as well as the poorer classes in this sadly-stricken country.

After due consideration we have come to the conclusion that the number of talkers exceed the number of listeners by a large majority.

"If you are against prohibition you still have hope, because there are big and powerful interests working to restore liquor," the Omaha Bee quotes R. Beecher Howell as saying, "and if you are not for prohibition, keep one eye open while you sleep, for you will find liquor with you again." Once again we rise to remark: "Is this a promise or a threat?"

ANOTHER "CODE PRIMER."

(This one was not prepared in the office of the Finance Secretary.)

Q. What is the civil administrative code?

A. It is a creation of the 1919 legislature which furnishes jobs for six "secretaries" at $5,000 a year each, two or three dozen "chiefs" of bureaus and divisions at $3,000 a year each, and about 350 other persons.

Q. Has it proven efficient?

A. Very much so—from the standpoint of those who hold the jobs and draw the salaries. Before the code law was passed, the secretaries were holding state jobs at from $1,500 to $3,000 a year each. Now the same gellows get $5,000 apiece. Don't you call that efficiency?

Q. How many of the old boards, bureaus and commissions were consolidated under the code?

A. Governor McKelvie and Phil Bross claim there were 26.

Q. How many different bureaus, divisions, and activities of one kind and another are now embraced in the code organization?

A. About 60. Look on pages 2,245 and 2,246 of the new 1922 statutes and count them yourself.

Q. What does this indicate?

A. That there has been a big increase in the state payroll since the code law went into effect.

Q. Did the state get rid of all its other boards, bureaus and commissions when the code law was enacted?

A. Not much.

Q. But the code people claimed they would abolish all these things?

A. Yes, and Volva claims that the earth is flat.

Q. Name the boards, bureaus and commissions which have not been abolished by the code.

A. State railway commission.
Board of university regents.
State normal board.
Board of control.
Capitol commission.
Tax commission.
Library commission.
Statute revision commission.
State bar commission.
Commission to examine public accountants.
State sheriff's office.
Legislative reference bureau.
Board of educational lands and funds.
State board of equalization.
State board of pardons.

Q. How many is that?

A. Fifteen, if we haven't forgotten any of them.

Q. Were the people of Nebraska given a chance to say whether or not they wanted the code?

A. No; referendum petitions were signed and filed with sufficient signatures to have it submitted, but the secretary of state refused to accept them, and so the people didn't get a chance to vote upon it.

Q. Will they get a chance to do so this fall?

A. They will.

Q. How much money was appropriated by the 1917 legislature to run the boards, bureaus and commissions then in existence?

A. $1,627,159.

Q. Was this before we had the civil administrative code?

A. Yes, the code law was not passed until two years later.

Q. How much has been appropriated for the code departments during this biennium?

A. $7,543,519.

Q. How does this compare with the former appropriation?

A. It is an increase of $5,916,360, or 263 per cent.

Q. Would the repeal of the code law help this situation and cut down the cost of government?

A. Yes, it would enable the state to get rid of a lot of its dead timber?

Q. What is the state budget?

A. A summary of the financial needs of the various departments, for two years ahead, which the governor submits to the legislature.

Q. When was the law passed providing for a budget?

A. In 1917, by a democratic legislature—two years before the code law.

Q. Who prepared and submitted the first state budget?

A. Governor Neville, at the time he retired from office in January, 1919.

Q. Does the budget have anything to do with the code?

A. Not a thing in the world, except that the finance secretary got the legislature to pass another budget bill putting the whole thing into his hands.

Q. Could the budget be made up by someone else than a code secretary?

A. Certainly. But in that case, the appropriations for code departments might not be so liberal.

Q. Who took a leading part in forcing the code law through the legislature of 1919?

A. C. H. Randall, now the republican nominee for governor.

Q. Who "investigated" the code departments in 1921 and certified that there was no duplication?

A. C. H. Randall.

Q. Who now tells the people that if elected governor he will ask the legislature to amend the code law and "do away with duplications?"

A. C. H. Randall.

Q. Has Mr. Randall pointed out any duplications recently discovered by himself?

A. No.

A. No.

Q. Could Mr. Randall do anything to eliminate the duplication?

A. No, because the duplication results from code departments assuming the duties which the state pays constitutional officers to perform and these constitutional officers cannot be eliminated by legislative enactment.

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

DO YOU BELIVE IN OTHERS?

To believe that you are no worse than anyone else you know is not an excuse for not being dependable, honorable and respectable.

If you have such a degraded idea of humanity that you believe that you are as good as the best of them, you have something to learn.

To be as good as the best is not an excuse for not being better.

You may make it an excuse, but your principles are off if you do.

There are two classes of persons who believe that all persons are deceitful, or vicious, or dishonest—in fact who doubt the sincerity of those whom they meet and with whom they are obliged to associate.

The first class has been too gullible in the start—believed every man and woman honest and true and sincere, and then through bitter experience has been led to believe otherwise.

The second class is so mean and dirty and dishonorable at heart that it cannot conceive of higher ideals and greater effort to be decent in others, than exist in themselves.

To whatever class you belong, it would be well for you to inquire and look about you, and finally learn that there are men and women in the world who can be trusted, whose intentions are sincere and whose expressions are truthful.

UPSETTING THE RULE OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND.

The law of supply and demand is a primary law of the science of economics. If left unhampered the artificial influences it is expected to regulate prices and production. Thus a large production or supply of any commodity naturally satisfies the demand for such a commodity and when the excess supply is revealed prices come down to stimulate demand, or lack of demand and consequent low prices discourage production until the balance once more is achieved.

It is generally accepted as a rigd and unescapable law. The situation in the coal trade of the United States following the recently settled strike, therefore, commands attention as an instance of the overturn of a law almost as fundamental as a law of nature. We must bow in amazement if not in respect to the miners and operators.

We have too many miners and too many mines in this country. The excess of miners needd to fill the country's annual requirements of coal is estimated at from 250,000 to 300,000. Through the operation of the law of supply and demand we should expect logically that lack of demand for the services of 250,000 men in the mining trade would result in their being driven into other lines of endeavor where their services might be in demand. If all the miners worked all the working days in the year they would produce, say, 800,000,000 tons of coal. Our normal consumption may be estimated at 500,000,000 tons. If the law of supply and demand were unhampered the excess production would put down the price, and the lowered price in turn would reduce production until five-eights of the operators or mines and five-eighths of the miners were producing.

But between them the miners and operators have upset that law. That is indeed an achievement. They have altered the normal economic processes until the more the miners the higher their wage, and the more the potential production of coal the higher the price.—Chicago Tribune.

BLUEBERRY BARRENS DESCRIBED.

In Hancock or Washington county, Maine, a blueberry barren or 20 acres is quite enough to support a family. If it is made full use of. It becomes or more importance to the farmer than all the rest of his farm. There appears no particular reason why the whole expanse of the country should not be devoted to the raising (not the cultivation," the blueberry cannot be cultivated) of this admirable berry. The worse the soil, the better is the berry, apparently. For its perfection, the soil should be barren and also sour. For that reason the soil should be not only poor but "new," for newly exposed soil is apt to be acid. To prepare the ground for the blueberry all you have to do is to clear it of everything else. Cut off all the trees and bushes and burn it over, and the particular vaccinium that is proper to the conditions will take possession. It is said in Maine that the ash and cinders of the burning are favorable to the plant. About the finest berries that are seen this year were growing on old pastures that had not been burned over. But the glorious thing about the blueberry is that it scorns cultivation. It just comes up, wild, and if the proper kind of wildness, and the proper degree of poverty and rawness of the soil, are not there the blueberry simply stays away. What a true child of the wilderness!

Given the proper and wild conditions, the blueberry grows in profuse masses that put the prodigality of all cultivated crops to shame. When it is ripe, the Maine people resort in scores to the blueberry wastes. Once they picked the berry by hand, berry by berry. That, of course, is too slow a method for this generation. Blueberries are now gathered with a kind or rake or comb, which looks very much like a common dustpan (a rather large one) with teeth, and bulging out into a receptacle at the back which must hold two or three quarts. With this contrivance in his hand, the picker, stooping, marches along, combing the blueberry bushes, and sweeping them into the back of the this implement. When this is full, he empties the receptacle into a wooden box, open at the top, and when this is filled it is carried to the waiting motortruck and loaded in just as it is. The contrivance gathers large berries and small, ripe ones and green ones, all together, and they have to be picked over afterward. "Combing" the berries is a wearisome, backaching kind of work. In Maine it seems to be performed entirely by men and large boys.

After the vines are once combed or raked, they are done with as a commercial proposition, although many fine berries may be left on them in the combing, and though a good many may develop and ripen afterward. The gleaning of the bushes after the regular picking is frequently left freeto all comers, though up to the time of the combing the pastures and barrens are "posted" and guarded from intrusion. There are always plenty of berries for casual and uncommercial picking in the Maine country, for the bushes grow along the roadside and even in the woods, and in small volunteer ptches where it is not worth while to "comb" them. The commercial berries are mostly of the low bush variety, as the high bush berries tend to grow in a better and moister soilt ha nthe low.—Boston Transcript.

REPUBLICANS OLD AND NEW.

Mr. Ralston the democratic candidate for senator in Indiana, is doing effective work by pointing out to his audiences the great increases in the cost of living that the new republican tariff makes certain. With the country's response to the McKinley tariff and the Payne-Aldrich tariff still in their memories, how could the republican tariff-maker prepare so preposterous a bill? A large number of sane protectionists in the republican party will agree with the Independent Indianapolis News that "nothing in our political history is more difficult to understand or explain than the capture of the republican party by such men as Dingley, Payne, Aldrich, Smooth, Fordney x x x. For there was once a wise leadership committed to rational and moderate views on the tariff — the leadership of such men as Garfield, Sherman, Arthur, Allison and even Grant himself, not one of whom believed in or advocated protection of the extreme sort."

Be good enough to read this extract from a political platform of 1870 and guess from what party it comes.

A reduction of taxation is demanded, both of the tariff and internal taxes, until it reaches the lowest amount consistent with the credit an necessities of the government; and we are in favor of a tariff for revenue, believing that a proper adjustment of duties must necessarily afford the incidental protection to which any interest is entitled.

That was the tariff doctrine promulgated by the Indiana republican convention of 1870. In fifty years the republicans have wandered far from it. They have come to regard protection as a magical process. In his last days, Mr. McKinley proclaimed the necessity of a broader view. Only by buying as well as selling could our place in the world, our proper share of the world's trade, be held. Now, when our financial and economic position has been entirely changed—when the old world has passed and a new one come into being—the saint of protection still cling to their outworn gospel and try to force it upon an America that has outgrown it and a world in which it can't prosper—New York Times.

With the Women of Today

By Edith Moriarty

Women bank officers are still a rarity, although many are entering this branch of business. Among those who have achieved cenpicious success is Mrs. Key Cammack, assistant secretary of the New York Trust company.

Educating women who do not know in the meaning and proper use of money is Mss. Cammack's job. She is one of the pioneers in this movement and is said to have a real genius for economy. Three economical strains mingle in her blood—Scotch, French and Dutch—and in her childhood home, she explains any sort of waste was considered a crime. Naturally when Mrs. Cammack became connected with a bank and women came daily to her desk with their financial problems, it was natural for her to think of ways of teaching the careless ones that money is not something that just pours out of a faucet.

Gradually she worked out a series of budgets for the well-to-do and began making talks to classes of girls in boarding schols and colleges, and now she is considered an authority on the subject. Her bank is about the only commercial bank in New York City making a feature of budget work. The truth is that the word budget is not popular either with rich o rpoor and it takes time to educate the people into it.

"I find there are rich families that don't know at all how much their daughters are costing them," she people where at least $6,000 is pent on, or by, a young girl in boarding school. Some of these girls have allowances some don't. Some parents refuse an allowance and accocionally a girl prefers none because she thinks she can wheedle more out of her parents if there's no fixed sum mentioned. But what a way for future wives to grow up."

The Cost of "Progressive Schemes.

In a striking resolution offered to the National Tax conference, now in session here, Edward P. Doyle, of New York, makes a penetrating analysis of present economic and political economic and political tendencies.

He arranges the steady trend toward paternalism, the degenerative process of turning from a government supported by the people to a people supported by the government. He finds in the current platforms of so-called "progressive" candidates such projects as these:

Municipal and public operation of public utilities.

Nationalization of mines and railroads.

New cabinet officers to preside over new departments of education and public health.

The recall of public officers and judges.

Increased sunpervision over individual and business activities, resulting in

An enormous increased army of spies and informers.

Tremendously increased social service to the people.

The striking feature of Mr. Doyle's summation of his economic approach. As becomes a tax expert, he asks what this program is going to cost the people in taxes. It is a question well worth asking, and well worth pursuing to a definite answer.

The people of the United States, he tells us, are now paying six billion dollars a year for taxes—Federal, state and local. That is fifty dollars apiece, or for the ten per cent of us who pay taxxes, $500 apiece.

What will the grandiose program of the "progressies" cost the people in additional taxes? Mr. Doyle's estimate is another three billion a year on top of the present six billions—or $250 more fer each taxpayer to dig up.

For one thing, the acquisition by public ownership of the utilities, the mines and the railroads would not only withdraw property worth many billions from local taxation, but would more than double the total of tax-exempt securities, now estimated to stand at thirty billian dollars. According to Mr. Doyle's estimate, there would be 71 billions outstanding in tax-exempt securities, once these properties passed under public ownership. But the total taxable wealth of the country is estimated at only 145 billions.

It is evident that the unexempt property would have to bear a constantly increasing burden of taxation.

But that is not all. If we may judge the future by the past, there would be great deficits in the public operation of railroads, mines and utilities. These would have to be shouldered by the patient taxpayer. Social services planned by the theorizinz "progressives" would be progressively expensive. The tax bill would mount continuously.

As the last count in his indictment of the "progressive" program, Mr. Doyle says:

It would destroy the morale of our people, taking away their independence and initiative, destroying incentive to thrift and industry, teaching the people to rely on government instead of working out their own salvation, endeavoring to provide artificial processes of evolution for the human race instead of the natural processes obtained and established by oGd, and tending to reaction and state socialism and substitution of a pure democracy with the constitutional guaranties for rights of minorities.

Mr. Doyle has given us something to think about. He has treated the idealized theories of the "progressives" from a new angle—that of their cost to the people, as well as their degenerative effect on popular morale.—Minneapolis Journal.

WILL SHOW FILM OF AUTO INDUSTRY

Movies of Studebaker Plant in Operation Will Be Exhibited Tuesday Night.

A cast of thousands of people, hundreds of machines almost human in the operations which they perform, and a $20,000,000 setting provide the background for the film, "The Story of the Automobile," to be exhibited, Tuesday night, October 3, at the Mechanical Engineering hall, the the University of Nebraska. Two performances will be given at 5 and 7:30. There will be no admission charge for the performances.

This film was produced under the direction of the United States department of commerce in co-operation with the Studebaker Corporation and will be shown in all parts of the world.

The scenes are laid in the new $20,000,000 Studebaker plant at South Bend, Ind.

This romance of modern manufacturing shows as commonplace happenings the wonders of motor car manufacture such as hydraulic pressure, tossing a four ton hammer as though it were light as a feather, and this same hammer forging white hot bars of the toughest steels into automobile parts; molten metal flowing from a cupola spout like water from a faucet; a vast storeroom, served by two traveling cranes which transfer materials from the loading docks to any floor in sixty seconds; a single machine which drills 68 holes in the engine bloc at one operation—this bloc being held by metal straps so that it will fit in the machine in only one position—the correct one, which helps to explain the perfect interchangeability of Studebaker parts.

The story is a fascinating portrayal of the miracles of twentieth century manufacture. It will interest anyone who ever rode in an automobile

It is due to the energy and courtesy of DeBrown Auto Sales company, local Studebaker dealers, that this film is to be exhibited free of charge.

HELD PENDING INVESTIGATION

U. S. Port Officers Hint Classic Dancer Has Pro-Soviet Leanings.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Isadora Duncan, Russian classic dancer and her young Russian poet-husband, Serge Yessenin who were detained by immigration inspectors when they arrived on the steamship Tuscania yesterday will be given a hearing at Ellis Island late today. There was a hint that the authorities wanted to question them as to their pro-soviet leanings and the possibility that they might intend to spread propaganda.

Local authorities said their refusal to allow them to land was upon orders from Washington.

The originator of the modern classic dance was highly indignant. "The idea," she exclaimed when it was suggested that soviet activity be the cause. "Serge is not a politician. He is a genius. He is a poet. We want to tell Americans of the starving children in Russia, not about soviet politics."

And to prove that her husband is a genius and a poet, she slipped her hand through his powdered tawny hair. Her secretary acts as interpreter as the dancer does not know Russian and her husband cannot talk English or French.

Miss Duncan appeared in a half barbaric Russian costume of brilliant colors. She wore bright red Russian boots which flopped around her ankles as if she were wearing fishermen's boots and bells clanked when she walked.

Rabbi Singer Makes Plea for Sincerity in Sunday Ceremony

Rabbi Jacob Singer preached on, "A Plea for Sincerity" at the Sunday night celebration of the Day of Atonement, a Jewish ceremonial day which will close at sunset Monday

Rabbi Singer took for his text the passage for Isaiah: "Seek ye the Lord." According to the Jewish doctrine, the three principal sins are idolitry, adultry and murder, and the believer should give up his life rather than commit any of these. The first he characterized as being untrue to one's ideals; the second, untrue to one's self; and the third, untrue to one's neighbor

Ceremonies were continued all day Monday. The Feast of Tabernacles, or Succoth, Jewish harvest festival of ancient origin, will be celebrated in the synagog for eight days beginning Friday

MEYER TALKS TO NATION'S BANKERS

Urges More Harmonious Relations Between National and State Banks.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The financial policy of the nation should not look only toward further development of the federal reserve system, but also the welding into a 'closer and more harmonious unit," the different elements of its banking structure, Eugene Meyer, jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, declared in an address here today before the state bank division of the American bankers' association. He expressed the opinion that the fact that two-thirds of the country's banks, representing 30 per cent of its total banking resources, were outside of the federal reserve system was "undoubtedly responsible, in part at least, for some of our recent difficulties," Mr. Meyer said. "We have reached a time where we must decide whether we shall continue the more or less haphazard development of our banking machinery or whether our action shall proceed along lines based upon a comprehensive view of the needs of the country."

The fact that state banking laws frequently permit practices in which the national banks cannot legally engage, Mr. Meyer said, has created a condition of competition between the two systems which may lead to a gradual weakening of both. Discussing in this connection the agitation to permit branch banking by national banks as is now permitted banks without restriction in some states, Mr. Meyer said this practice may be relief in a limited way and had if permitted on an extensive scale. But whatever the opinion may be, he said, the question should be decided on its merits and not as the product of competition between the two systems."

Agricultural financing, Mr. Meyer declared, "must be based, first of all upon the fundamental facts of American agriculture, and, second, upon the existing economic and financial structure of the country."

Longer term financing to meet the need of more gradual marketing of agricultural products has been shown to be an absolute necessity, he said.

Board of Control Members Invited to Join League

For the small sum of $5 each, Members L. C. Oberlies and A. E. Allyn and Secretary E. B. Fairfield of the state board of control have the opportunity to get themselves enrolled as members of the national council for the "national economic league," with headquarters in Boston. They and a number of other Nebraska men have been selected to represent this state on the council, says the secretary, J. W. Bentson, in letters he has written.

Before they can be recognized as council members, the $5 fee must be paid. So far, none of the trio has sent in his contribution. They have heard from the secretary a second time, urging them to join, and enclosing stamped envelopes for reply.

The secretary says that Harvey M. Newbranch of Omere, George H. Hastings of Crete, C. B. Dempster of Beatrice, and B. F. Nuncupative Will of J. M. Meserve Is Admitted by Court

The nuncupative will of Joseph M. Meserve, who died at St. Elizabeth's hospital, August 25, was admitted to probate by County Judge R. R. Reid, Monday. A nuncupative will is one which is made verbally. Mr. Meserve was critically ill at the time it was made, being too weak even to sign his name to the document, which a witness at his bedside had written, according to his wishes in disposing of his property. He left an estate valued at $2,700 in personal property.

Judge Reid said a nuncupative will is of no effect so far as real estate is concerned. Matters could have been simplified by simply having had Mr. Meserve sign his mark to the instrument.

Nuncupative wills are made in the presence of witnesses and written out later. Mr. Meserve bequeathed $500 to his brother, Charles; his clothing to his brothers, Charles and Will, and the residue to his two brothers and sisters.

Mr. Meserve had been married, but he and his wife separated nine years ago. She is believed to be dead.

Rich Girl, Poor Girl

AN ABSORBNG SERIAL BY

VIRGINIA TERHUNE VAN DEWATER

(Copyright, 1922, Star Company.)

CHAPTER LXXXIV.

As Henry Hollinghead started for the door he caught Adelaide's hand. "Come too!" he gasped, "she may need you!"

But the girl waited to give the frightened maid an order. "Telephone the doctor—quickly!" she said.

Nothing else seemed to matter to Adelaide for the instant except that something be done for the woman who had been her charge for all these weeks. Her own distressing problem could be settled later.

When she reached the sick room she was sure that nothing could be done here Yet, with the old tradition of working as long as life lasts, attendant and nurse went through the usual round of stimulants, hot water bags and compresses.

"If the doctor would only come!" the husband groaned, dropping on his knees at the side of the bed.

Richard had come into the room and now stood looking on, his hands twitching nervously. At last he touched Miss Johnson on the arm.

"If I can't be of use I won't stand around here in the way," he suggested

"There is nothing you can do," she said brusquely, "except to open those windows before you go. The patient needs all the air she can get."

But it was Adelaide who hurried to open the windows It was as if she was not aware that the son of the house was present.

The husband rose to his feet as the doctor entered.

"Save her, for God's sake!" he muttered appealingly

But Adelaide knew by the look on John Carter's face that the unconscious woman was beyond the help of man

Still she continued to assist the nurse as the latter did the physician's bidding, performing the tasks that are futile and that yet must be done

The Sufferer Dies.

It was only a few minutes before all was over Without a sound, with only a little sigh as if of relief Hannah Hollingshead went on the great adventure on which her beloved daughter had gone such a short time before

As Richard Hollingshead, summoned by the nurse, came into the room and bent over the stricken husband, Adelaide Brown crept away alone. She would never be needed here again.

Upstairs, in her own room she locked the door and sank down upon the bed, too weak to stand.

She must go home. That was her one idea Home! Back to the little flat in the unfashionable section of the city, where the elevated trains roared by the windows, and where one must climb several flights of stairs whenever one came in. But it was home—Home, where all she loved lived. All she loved! She closed her eyes and saw the face of the man she had just seen bending above the motionless form on the bed downstairs.

And then, as if she knew it now for the first time, she appreciated that the wealthy sufferer was actually gone forever. But the girl could not grieve.

"She is with her child now," she whispered to herself.

Her child! Patty! The rich girl whom Adelaide Brown, the poor girl, had impersonated so often.

The Agony Over.

She need impersonate her no more Now she could be herself. And she would be herself. She would never act a part again. She would tell Dr. Carter that she had been a singer in a cabaret before she came here. She would be sincere. She would tell him the very first time she saw him.

When would that be? She drew her breath in sharply She was going away from here. Perhaps she would never see him again!

She must not think of this now. She must go home.

She glanced at the clock It was almost midnight. She could not leave tonight. She had insisted that her employer have her searched before she left. That scene down in the library seemed a long time ago. But she had meant what she said then. She would have to stay here until morning. There was no help for it.

Without undressing she lay down and waited for the morning.

She had not expected to sleep, but she did, and awoke to the consciousness that it was 7 o'clock. Rising, she washed and dressed her hair. Then, softly, she went downstairs.

The door of Patricia's room was open. Something, she did not know what, made her pause here. It was as if an unseen presence was calling to her to enter.

Following the strange bidding she went into the room and straight to the dressing table. Here stood Patricia's jewelry case. Still almost as if moving in a hypnotic trance, Adelaide lifted the lid of the case.

On the purple velvet lay the two rings she had worn night before last. Whoever had taken them from the drawer upstairs had brought them back within the past few hours and placed them here. Softly the girl closed the case and started from the room. At the door she stopped and glanced back at the white bed where she had seen the rich girl lying in her last sleep.

"Goodby!" the poor girl whispered. "You are with your mother now. And I am going to my mother too."

GREEK LEADER IN UGLY MOOD

Threatens to Invade Neutral Zone Unless Roving Turks Cease Depredations.

(International News Service.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2—The Greek commander-in-chief in Thrace today notified the allied high commissioners that Greece is unable to respect the neutral zone in the Chalja region, north of Constantinople unless attacks upon GGreeks by roving Turkish bands in that district are stopped.

It is probable that the proposal will be made at the armistice conference Tuesday that French troops occupy Thrace. One of the chief demands of the Turks is that they be allowed to take over eastern Thrace before peace negotiations begin.

"Mustapha Kemal Pasha might consent to French occupation of Thrace, but it would require 10,000 troops," Hamid Bey, envoy of the Turkish nationalists told International News Service today. He added, however, that the Turks feared that by the time France had occupied Thrace the Greek troops would have devastated the region until it resembled a desert.

Withdrawal of the Turks from strategic positions in the neutral zone and arrangements for the armistice negotiations have eased the situation. Reports were received, however, that Turksh troops still were being massed near Ismid. It was assumed that the Turkish forces in this region were acting under orders issued to their leaders before the armstice was arranged.

The Angora government is embarassed by lack of funds owing to non-collection of taxes

Before departing for Mudania, General Harington said he would propose allied military occupation of eastern Thrace pending the peace conference and that both sides give pledges that there would be no advances.

A belated report said that the Turks had moved forward at three points in the neutral zone, but these movements were believed to have been ordered before Kemal consented to an armistice conference.

At other points the Turks had fallen back.

In addition, it will recommend such new construction ashore as present disposition of the fleet seems to require

Why Endure That Aching Back?

DON'T let a bad back keep you miserable! You know there must be something wrong when every day brings a dull, nagging backache and that tired, all-dragged-out feeling. So why not find the cause and correct it? Chances are, you have given no thought to your kidneys; yet more than likely they are at fault. When the kidneys weaken, the blood becomes overloaded with poisons that well kidneys would filter off. These poisons upset the whole system, and it's little wonder one has torturing backache, sharp, stabbing pains at every sudden move, and distressing bladder irregularities. There may be headaches, too, with dizzy spells, "jumpy" nerves, and an irritable depressed feeling. Then don't risk serious or chronic kidney trouble. Help your weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills—before it is too late. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Lincoln Folks Found Relief:

MRS. WM. STRAYER, 218 So. 19th St., "My eyes were pretty near blinded and the doctor said it came from my kidneys. My back was nearly broke and when I stood straight it almost drew me backward, the pain was so severe. My feet and hands bloated badly and my kidneys acted irregularly. Everything went around in circles, before my eyes. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and three boxes cured me of the trouble. My cure has lasted."

T. E. HABERLAN, 1440 Vine St., gave the following statement November 23, 1914: "I had a dull ache across my back which was very annoying. Doan's Kidney Pills have about rid me of this trouble and I am very glad to recommend them to others."

On May 4, 1920, Mr. Haberlan said: "I can still tell of the good merits of Doan's Kidney Pills after what they have done for me. It has been a long time since I have had need of Doan's, and I gladly confirm my former statement."

Miss Clara Sonyoke, 2645 N St., says: "I can hardly describe how my back bothered me. I had awful pains in my back which nearly cut my breath short. My kidneys acted irregularly and I felt drowsy. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and they helped me from the start and soon relieved the condition. I have not had any kidney trouble since so I know my cure is a permanent one."

ODDS ON YANKEES TAKE SWIFT SWITCH TO EVEN MONEY

YANKEE BACKERS RUNNING TO COVER

Chaps Who Offered 7 to 5 On Hugmen Suddenly Switch to Even Money.

Yanks' Recent Batting Slump Boosts the Giants as Possible Winners.

WORLD SERIES ROSTER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.— Eligible players for the world's series, beginning here Wednesday, were announced today as follows:

New York Nationals—Pitchers Nehf, J. Barnes, McQuillan, Scott V. Barnes, Jonnard, Ryan, Hill and Blume; catchers, Snyder, Earl Smith and Gaston; infielders, Kelly, Frisch, Bancroft, Groh, Rawlings, Maguire and McPhee; outfielders, Emil Meusel, Stengel, Young, Cunningham, Robertson and King; manager, John J. McGraw; coaches, Hughey Jennings and Cozy Dolan.

New York Americans. Pitchers Bush, Mays, Shawkey, Hoyt, Jones, ODoul and Murray; catchers, Schang, Hofman and Devormer; infielders, Pipp, Ward, Scott, Dugan, Baker and McNally; outfielders, Ruth, Bob Meusel, Witt, McMillan, Elmer Smith and Skinner; manager, Miller J. Huggins; coaches, Charley O'Leary and Frank Roth.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—How good do the Giant pitchers have to be to stop a team, that under the whip, scores exactly five times and gets a matter of twenty-five hits in the last five games?

The answer is just a little bit better. The Yanks, with their accustomed lack of good taste, have selected the few days preceding the world series to fall into their worst batting slump of the year. In the five games in question they failed to score at all against Uhle and Jack Quinn, registered three times in one inning against Ferguson and not at all during the remainder of the game against Pennock, once against Rip Collins in Boston and once against Warmouth, a recruit in Washington yesterday.

Yanks Tumbled Into Slump.

Collins and the rest of them, barring Warmouth, are recognized as first-class pitchers when right, but the odds are against them all being right at one and the same time. Anaemic hitting must have had something to do with it.

Almost simultaneously, McGraw begun to get commendable pitching from Nehf, Scott and McQuillan. He has worked them a few innings here and they have done well. Nothing exceptional, of course, because three innings make a ball game no more than one swallow makes a highball.

The combination of fair pitching by the Giants and poor hitting by the Yanks has prompted many speculative many gentlemen, who once chanced 7 to 5 on the Yanks, to run to cover.

Looks Like Even Money.

Bets are being made at Doyle's at 6 to 5 and before game time Wednesday, even money very possibly will be the price of expressing one's opinion, openly arrived at.

It is the only sensible price, if any price is sensible. As a matter of fact, betting on a world series should be listed with blasting, sword swallowing, wife-beating and the like as a precarious occupation.

The fact that McGraw has been juggling Nehf, Scott and McQuillan in recent games is taken to mean that Jess Barnes, the young man who curve-balled the Yanks into hysterics in two games of the series last year, will not be very prominent in the impending games. It is likely that McGraw has decided to shoot all he owns on the three men in question and use Barnes for relief pitching, an art in which he uncovered no little proficiency in 1922.

Huggins Picks His Best Bets.

It is more than obvious that the worthy Mr. Huggins will counter with Bush, Shawkey and Hoyt. He has no alternative, what with Mays being consistently ineffective, or unlucky as you wish, and, with Jones yielding five runs to the Senators in the first inning. That inning, by the way, just about eliminated Samuel from participation in the series. It was his big chance and he muffed it.

Mays will do the relief pitching, if there is any relieving to be done.

The top three are better than any trio McGraw can muster, but they are not altogether fool proof. Shawkey, although pitching fine ball, has been beaten his last two times out. Bush also lost his last start and had to go to the rescue of Hoyt in the final inning Saturday.

The pitching has not flopped, however; it is the hitting. If the venarable Jack Quinn, the wild-eyed Collins and a kid pitcher can do it, there is hope yet for the Giants' staff, foolish looking though it may be.

NEBRASKA BOOKS CREIGHTON GAME

Promise of Omaha School to "Clean House" Gets O. K. of Cornhuskers.

Basketball Arrangement May Lead Up to Scheduling of Gridiron Battle.

Creighton university of Omaha, for years a bidder to establish athletic relations with the University of Nebraska, is to have a place this next winter on the Cornhuskers' basketball schedule. Announcement to this effect was made today by Athletic Director Fred T. Dawson, following the return of Coach Owen Frank from the Missouri Valley conference basketball meeting in Kansas City. Director Schabinger of Creighton, former director at Ottawa university, a Kansas school, mingled with the Valley conference basketball chiefs and entered into tentative arrangements for basketball games with three conference schools—Nebraska, Oklahoma and Kansas Aggies. Date of the Nebraska-Creighton game, which is to be played on an Omaha floor, has been definitely fixed, but Coach Frank indicated today that the Cornhuskers and Creightonites would clash on one of three dates—Feb. 6, Feb. 27, or March 3.

Pledge to "Clean House."

Explanation was made today at Cornhusker athletic headquarters that the arrangement to meet Creighton in basketball does not necessarily mean that the Huskers and the Omaha institution will enter into permanent relations, including other branches of intercollegiate sport. Failure of Creighton to adopt and enforce standard intercollegiate eligibility rules prevented consideration on Nebraska's part of Creighton's application to establish athletic relations, but installation of Baldridge as head football coach last year and the subsequent inauguration of A. A. Schabinger as athletic director led up a flat declaration by the heads of Creighton university athletics that it was their firm intention to "clean up."

Creighton Making Good.

Evidence that Creighton has been making progress on its policy of cleaning house was provided recently when a Creighton football man, a member of last year's Creighton team, enrolled at the University of Nebraska, informing personal acquaintances that the Omaha institution had ceased to provide free board, free room rent, free tuition and other perquisities to athletes. Creighton athletes, he said, were dropping out of school as a result of the reform methods introduceed by the athletic authorities.

Convinced, therefore, that Creighton has "turned a new leaf," the Cornhuskers will meet the Omaha school in basketball and may extend and enlarge the arrangement so as to include football, baseball, track and other sports. This development, however, will depend entirely on the measure of good faith displayed by the athletic authorities at Creighton university. It is generally agreed in Cornhusker athletic circles that an annual Nebraska-Creighton football game, played in Omaha, would attract a great crowd and be worth Nebraska's while from a financial standpoint.

Nebraska's Conference Slate.

Nebraska's draft of its sixteen Missouri Valley conference basketball games is not complete. Date of the Kansas game in Lincoln has not been definitely fixed, although it was announced at Cornhusker headquarters today that the Jayhawkers will meet the Cornhuskers either Feb. 12 or March 3. Definite dates on the Nebraska schedule, arranged at the conference meeting, follow:

Jan. 5—Kansas at Lawrence.
Jan. 6—Kansas Aggies at Manhattan.
Jan. 16—Drake at Lincoln.
Jan. 20—Oklahoma at Lincoln.
Jan. 22—Missouri at Lincoln.
Jan. 25—Drake at Des Moines.
Jan. 26—Ames at Ames.
Jan. 27—Grinnell at Grinnell.
Feb. 2—Grinnell at Lincoln.
Feb. 3—Ames at Lincoln.
Feb. 9—Oklahoma at Norman.
Feb. 16—Kansas Aggies at Lincoln.
Feb. 23—Washington at St. Louis.
Feb. 24—Missouri at Columbia.
March 2—Washington at Lincoln.

Tilly Walker of the Athletics, with 37, was third.

During the season the National league players knocked out 529 homers and the American leaguers 525, a total of 1,054. Last year the National league had 460 homers and the American 477, a total of 937.

NEBRASKA SCOUT WARNS HUSKERS

Farley Young Sees Powerful South Dakota Grid Team Defeat Yankton.

Report of Freshman Coach Farley Young, who scouted last Saturday's South Dakota-Yankton football game at Vermillion, made today to Head Coach Dawson, was not calculated to ease the worries of the mentor of the Cornhuskers. Young returned to Lincoln Monday noon and promptly passed the warning to Dawson that the Nebraska varsity men will have a job on their hands next Saturday afternoon when the Coyotes invade Lincoln to clash with the Cornhuskers in the first game of the Nebraska season.

"Coaches Allison and Ekberg have a big team at South Dakota university and plenty of substitutes," Coach Young said today. "Allison had two teams in action against Yankton college. The Coyotes used nothing but straight football against Yankton. They seemed to be satisfied after taking the ball across the Yankton goal. After that they played the game under wraps. South Dakota did not attempt a forward pass or trick play of any sort. Coach Allison of South Dakota knew I was there and his pupils showed me nothing but a few straight football plays.

"The Coyotes have plenty of size and power. Dubel, the fullback, will scale at 195 pounds. He is a dangerous line plunger. Quintal, the quarterback, is a fast, clever team pilot. Allison has a string of veterans on his squad. Unless the Cornhuskers show a lot of improvement over their scrimmage workout against the freshmen last Friday, South Dakota will send a team to Lincoln next Saturday that will be dangerous all the way."

Morse Bluff Pounds Hook Bailey; Wins by One-Sided Score

Yutan had Bailey, Pug Griffin, Whitey Gislason, Billy Smith, Paul McCoy and aCtcher Copple in its line up, while Harry Smith and Tomes, former Nebraska leaguer, were the only outside pastimers in Morse Bluff uniforms.

SISLER HIGH MAN AS MAKER OF HITS

Brownie Slugger Best Batter of the Year in Major League Circles.

Hornsby Also Tops .400 Mark, While Ty Cobb Ties Two World's Records.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns and Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals of the same city are the respective hitting champions of the American and National leagues. Sisler finished the season yesterday with a mark of .415 and Hornsby with .401, the latter being the first National league player to bat above .400 since Ed Delahnnty turned the trick twenty-three years ago. Ty Cobb is made by some of the statisticians to bat an even .400 for the season, equalling the major league mark held by Jesse Burkett of batting .400 or better in three big league seasons. Other sources, however, have Cobb hitting under the .400 mark.

The Georgian also tied Hans Wagner's record of .300 or better for seventeen seasons and more than 200 hits for eight seasons.

The unofficial standing of the five leaders follows:

Solves Mystery of Witt Injury; Gets Free Trip to Series

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—James P. C. Hon, a St. Louis traveling salesman is the luckiest baseball fan in the world. Thousands may lose sleep and scramble for world's series pasteboards, but not Mr. Hon. He has his tickets right now, a personal check for $100 from Gan Johnson, president of the American league, and round trip transportation between St. Louis and New York. All that because he solved the "pop bottle" mystery.

Fielder Whitey Witt of the Yankees was struck on the head by a pop bottle in the recent "crucial series" between New York and St. Louis. Witt was so badly injured he had to be carried off the field. Several rewards were offered for the identity of the "thrower."

It was right that Mr. Hon up and solved the mystery. It was a poor day for Whitey Witt, but a lucky one for Hon. He wrote a letter to President Johnson, explaining just how the accident happened. Witt, he said, while running, stepped on the neck of the bottle, causing it to fly up and strike him on the head.

Mr. Johnson was so pleased with Hon's explanation that he sent him the reward, the tickets and railroad transportation. And, in addition to that, his employers, Morse & Co., have given him leave of absence at full pay to attend the games.

Spier Captains Hastings Eleven

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 2.—Jacob Spier, president of the high school athletic association, has been elected captain of the Hastings high school football squad this year. He was chosen by a unanimous vote.

Emerson Chalks Up Two Grid Victories

(Special to The Star.)

EMERSON, Neb., Oct. 2—Emerson chalked up two high school victories on the local gridiron this season. Emerson defeated South Sioux City by an 18 to 0 score. Last Friday, Emerson won a 22 to 0 victory from Wayne.

Ponca and Emerson will play here October 5 as one of the attractions at the Northeast Nebraska stock show.

Touching the Bases

The pennant winning New York Giants and Yankees marshalled their boards of strategy today for the opening Wednesday at the Polo Grounds of their second straight fight for the world's championship. The series this year will be for the best four out of seven, instead of five out of nine, as a year ago.

Saturday's victory for the Yankees over the Red Sox, clinching the pennant, proved to be the margin by which the Hugmen held the top when the season closed yesterday. They dropped the final contest when Washington hammered Sam Jones to the tune of 6 to 1, and the St. Browns, runner-up, concluded the season with the third straight triumph over Chicago, 2 to 1.

With the National league pennant decided in favor of the Giants, the first of last week, chief interest in the National leagues, concluding drive was the battle for second place. Cincinnati, under the leadership of Pat Moran, ousted Pittsburgh from the runner-up position on the final day by twice trimming the Pirates, 5 to4 and 5 to 1. The double setback left the Pirates in a tie for third place with the St. Louis Cardinals, who wound up the season by defeating Chicago, 7 to 1.

DOPE UPSETTING HAS EARLY START

Nebraska Hi School Elevens Busy Last Week Putting on Surprise Parties.

Kearney's Victory Over Grand Island the Outstanding Performance.

BY GREGG M'BRIDE.

High school football teams of the Cornhusker state gave the dope bucket an energetic shove last week. Fully a dozen teams turned in surprise performances on Nebraska rectangles.

To start with, Kearney high, more or less dormant on the proposition of high school sport the past few years, walloped Grand Island, 26 to 0, reports from the game seeming to indicate that the Kearney athletes turned the trick in a somewhat easy fashion. The victory along with the trimming handed Ravenna the preceding week, brings Kearney forward as a team to be reckoned with in the state championship race.

Arapahoe high school played Cambridge to a tie score, 12 to 12. This also was in the form of an upset, the Red Willow gridsters being accorded the edge in view of the bad walloping handed Orleans the preceding week. The result with Arapahoe would seem to indicate the Cambridge machine was not running true to form or that Arapahoe is stronger than was forecasted early in the season. Oxford and Arapahoe played a scoreless tie in the first game of the year.

Peru Prep took the Nebraska City eleven to a cleaning, winning a 13 to 6 victory. The Peruvians will meet a severe test this week when they perform on the Tecumseh high gridiron.

Lincoln Wins Opener.

Fremont held Lincoln to a 6 to 0 victory and was satisfied. Coach Dow's Dodge county team had no thoughts of victory, but bothered the Red and Black enough that, while always in Fremont territory, the Capital City lads were not able to count a touchdown on straight football.

After holding Central to a pair of field goals during the first half, Creighton Prep tossed in the sponge and the Central athletes romped away with a 32 to 0 victory.

University Place and Crete staged a merry battle on Johnson field. The young Methodists scored in the first quarter and that represented the only goal-crossing of the afternoon.

Bayard Trims Bluffs.

Bayard dumped its rival, Scotts bluff, with a decisive thud, 41 to 6. Alliance made short work of Chadron, 94 to 6. The victory was a costly one, for Frank Dailey, Alliance halfback, received an injured shoulder which may keep him out of the game the remainder of the season.

Broken Bow made it two in a row, defeating Loup City, 38 to 0. North Platte opened the season at Cozad's expense, 44 to 0. Ansley defeated Gibbon, 13 to 7.

Tecumseh won over the Doane college reserves, 13 to 0. Pawnee City defeated Falls City in the last few minutes of play, 13 to 7.

York put Superior out of the running, 17 to 0. It was the second victory for the York clan, which will invade Lincoln this week. Alma swamped Beaver City, 63 to 0. Dakota City made it three straight by smothering Jackson, 83 to 0. Holdrege won a 7 to 0 victory over Oxford.

Out-state teams fared rather badly during the week. Chester won from Washington, Kas., 3 to 7. Wymore defeated Summerfield, Kas., 7 to 0. The Curtis Aggies trounced Holyoke, Colo., 38 to 0. Missouri Valley, Ia., won from Tekamah, 7 to 0 Chappell won from Julesburg, Colo., 13 to 0. Verden defeated Highland, Kas., 3 to 0.

McCook turned back Benkleman, 44 to 0. Aurora defeated Polk, 24 to 0 Minden balked Hastings in the first game, the contest ending a scoreless tie.

Gridiron Notes in Hi School Circles

Alma high school is in the market for a Thanksgiving day game. Coaches wishing to book the Alma eleven should communicate with Superintendent Essert.

Coach Dwight L. Williams of Seward high school would like to schedule a game for November 10.

Beatrice fans are anxious for Friday's opening game with Fairbury. The Gage county grid squad, though light, is a little heavier than usual this year and the local enthusiasts are expecting a good season.

Holdrege high derived a great amount of satisfaction over the 12-12 tie played by Arapahoe and Cambridge last week. Holdrege defeated Oxford and the latter played a scoreless tie with Arapahoe.

Having trounced the Holyoke, Colo., eleven by a more than thirty-point margin, the Curtis Aggies will start in on its Nebraska schedule this week.

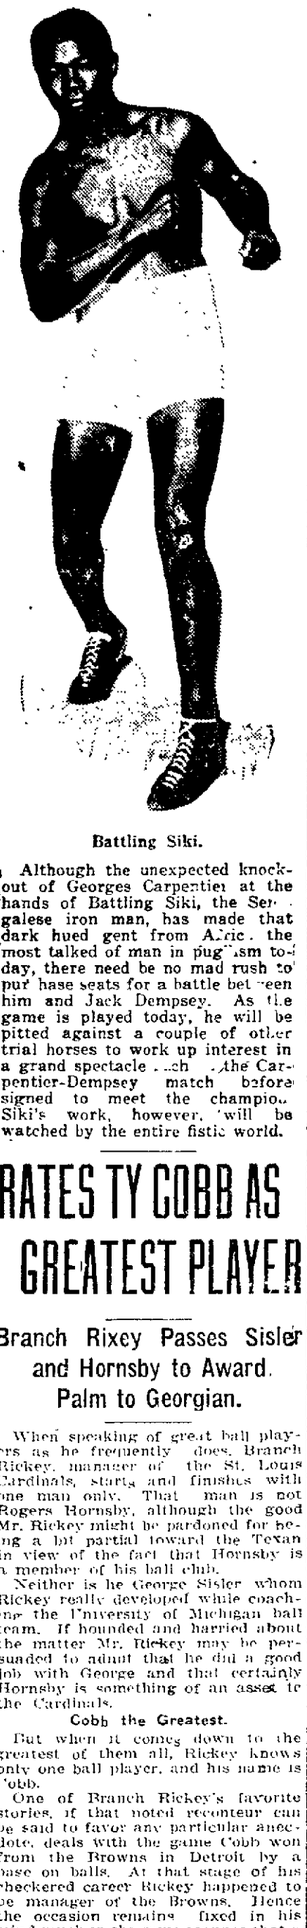
Cozad was defeated by North Platte Friday, 44 to 0. Yet Cozad fans saw no reason to feel blue. North Platte beat them over 100-0 last fall.

The York-Lincoln game next Friday on Nebraska field should attract a bumper crowd. In addition to being the opening game of the Red and Black home schedule, it will be a contest between two undefeated teams. York and Lincoln played a scoreless tie at York last fall.

Helkes, Dakota City quarterback, booted eleven out of twelve dropkicks in the Jackson game Friday. His team didn't need the points, but they helped make up an 83 to 0 victory.

University Place meets Pawnee City on Johnson field this week. Coach Foley's Pawnee lads have victories over Barneston and Falls City this season. It will be the second game for the suburbanites.

IT'LL BE A LONG TIME BEFORE SIKI BATTLES DEMPSEY



Battling Siki.

Although the unexpected knockout of Georges Carpentier at the hands of Battling Siki, the Senegalese iron man, has made that dark hued gent from Africa the most talked of man in pugilism today, there need be no mad rush to purchase seats for a battle between him and Jack Dempsey. As the game is played today, he will be pitted against a couple of other trial horses to work up interest in a grand spectacle such as the Carpentier-Dempsey match before signed to meet the champion. Siki's work, however, will be watched by the entire fistic world.

RATES TY COBB AS GREATEST PLAYER

Branch Rixey Passes Sisler and Hornsby to Award Palm to Georgian.

When speaking of great ball players as he frequently does, Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, starts and finishes with one man only. That man is not Rogers Hornsby, although the good Mr. Rickey might be pardoned for being a bit partial toward the Texan in view of the fact that Hornsby is a member of his ball club.

Neither is he George Sisler whom Rickey really developed while coaching the University of Michigan ball team. If hounded and harried about the matter Mr. Rickey may be persuaded to admit that he did a good job with George and that certainly Hornsby is something of an asset to the Cardinals.

Cobb the Greatest.

But when it comes down to the greatest of them all, Rickey knows only one ball player, and his name is Cobb.

One of Branch Rickey's favorite stories, if that noted reconteur can be said to favor any particular anecdote, deals with the game Cobb won from the Browns in Detroit by a base on balls. At that stage of his checkered career Rickey happened to be manager of the Browns. Hence the occasion remains fixed in his mind much in the same manner that a cornerstone remains fixed in a building. It has been his singular contention ever since that Cobb has brains in his feet.

"The score was tied, with two out in the ninth," says Rickey, in his best platform manner, "when Cobb came up and worked Carl Weilman for a pass. He immediately took a long lead off first and drew a throw. Leary, our first baseman, lobbed the ball back to the box, and immediately Cobb dashed away from the bag again, drawing another throw.

"Again Leary lobbed the ball back, and again Cobb streaked off first. Weilman snatched the ball out of the air and whipped it back. Too late.

Worked it Overtime.

"At this stage of the proceedings I thought I saw a chance to retire the side by catching Cobb napping. I stood in the dugout and yelled:

"'Do it again!'".

"Leary drew back his arm and tossed the ball even higher than before, and away went Cobb, this time for second base, with no intermediate stops. Weilman reached high in the air, grabbed the ball and threw it in the dirt at Lavan's feet. It went into short center, and Cobb rushed for third.

"The centerfielder had backed up the play, and Cobb figured to be out a mile. The ball beat him by yards, but Austin fumbled momentarily, and right then and there Cobb showed that he either has brains in his feet or he isn't human.

"The ball was lying out there between Austin and the runner for only a fraction of a second, but in that instant Cobb did more thinking than the average ball player does in a season. Instead of sliding for the base he slid for the ball, feet first, gave it a kick that sent it into the dugout and then went on to the plate with the winning run.

"It was a clear case of interference, but the umpires couldn't see it that way. And, besides, the game was over. You never can win an argument after the umpires call it a day."

Cleveland also upset the standing in the American league on the final day, crowding Chicago out of fourth place by defeating Detroit 6 to 5, while the White Sox lost to the Browns. The Tigers held third place by but a single game.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.

The rapid advance in prices in today's stock market was the direct result of the more hopeful development in the Near East. Short covering by speculators who had sold freely last week on the possibility of war or further serious developments in the Near East, furnished the impetus for the rise, which carried a number of activities from 1 to 5 points above Saturday's level. Sales which were somewhat restricted because of the Jewish holiday, amounted to approximately 850,000 shares.

Week-end developments in the Near East indicating brighter prospects for peace, brought a flood of buying orders into the stock market at today's opening, gains of 1 to 3 points being quite numerous among active issues. Oils, steels, equipments and merchandising shares led the advance with more moderate gains being recorded by the rails and coppers.

Extremely short covering accelerated the advance. Mexican Petroleum was pushed up 5 points with gains of 1½ to 2½ being recorded by Standard Oils of California and New Jersey and Sun-American. United States Steel was led by Crucible and Gulf States, each of which mounted 2 points, while gains of 1 to 1¾ took place in United States Steel common, Republic, Bethlehem B and Midvale. Baldwin and American Locomotives each improved more than 2 points, as did May Department Stores, United Retail Stores, Consolidated Gas, Studebaker and American Tobacco.

Reading led the rail list with a gain of 1¾, and Utah stood at the head of the copper list with a similar advance.

The higher prices were not maintained after the first batch of buying orders had been executed. The immediate requirements of the shorts having been met, prices sagged steadily, the recessions in the popular shares ranging from ½ to 2½ points. There were indications that comparatively little outside buying had been attracted into the market. Bear operators furnished the principal source of supply on the down grade, with sales well below recent averages. A renewal rate of 4¼ per cent for call money also gained on a check of extensive buying operations. The list advanced around noon in response to a brisk rally in Consolidated Gas, which was pushed up more than three points, on an active inquiry for equipments, which extended their early gains.

Buying of seasoned dividend paying stocks inspired more confidence among the bulls and prices crept up slowly to the earlier high figures of the morning or above. Shorts were impressed by the quantity of the buying and the ease that prices moved upward with the same facility as downward. United States Realty and Improvement, American Locomotive and United States Retail Stores advanced 3¼, Canadian Pacific and Gulf States 3, Midvale Steels 2¾, Wells-Fargo Express 4, Telegraph Products 2¾, Delaware & Lackawanna 2½ and New York Central, Atchison, Reading, Pullman, Bethlehem Steel B, Crucible, Tobacco Products A, Houston Oil, General Electric, Adams Express and American Sugar 2 to 2¼.

Finding a small floating supply of stock on the market at current prices, speculators scrambled to cover in the afternoon, causing another sharp upturn on a largely increased volume of business. High priced rails were heavily bought and there was a continued demand for Mexican Petroleum and the steel shares. The closing was strong.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 2

WHEAT—In a general rush to sell the wheat market underwent a sharp fall today during the early dealings. Greatly diminished likelihood of fighting at the Dardanelles was the chief factor which induced selling and led to the break in prices. Transportation difficulties to the east, both on the lakes and railroads, together with heavy marketing of wheat in the spring crop region, had a further bearish effect. The opening, which ranged from 1½ to 2⅝c lower, December $1.04@1.04½ and May $1.07@1.07½, was followed by continued weakness interrupted in some cases by a slight rally.

In later transactions, traders showed a tendency to go slow pending further developments as to peace between the British an dthe Turks. The close was easy, ½ to 1¾c net lower, with December $1.04½@1.04⅝ and May $1.07⅝@1.07¾.

CORN—Corn and oats were under less pressure than was the case with wheat and were relatively firm. After opening ½ to ⅝c lower, December 58⅝@58¾c, the corn market recovered most of the loss.

Bullish crop estimates were responsible for upturns which subsequently took place in the corn market, prices closed firm at ½ to ⅝c net gain, with December 59¾@59⅞c.

OATS—Oats started ⅛ to ¼c to ⅜c off, December 36⅛@37c, and later showed slight general gains.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were neglected in the early part of the day and were nominally without change.

TRACKMEN MEET IN CONVENTION

Conclave Expected to Be One of Most Important in Union's History.

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—The Convention of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way employes and railway shop laborers, that opened here today, promises to be one of the most important ever held by the Organization, according to leaders of the union. They expect, during the two weeks meeting, to receive for ratification or rejection, the decision of the railroad labor board on the wage scale of the 400,000 workers represented by the brotherhood.

The board agreed to reconsider its previous decision when members of the union were persuaded to remain at their posts during the shop craft strike.

The convention also will consider proposed changes in the by-laws and an appeal to remove brotherhood headquarters from Detroit. St. Louis is one of the cities seeking the headquarters. The proposed change in the by-laws, officers said, would alter the entire organization.

Among those listed as speakers are Warren S. Stone, head of the brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, W. S. Carter, representing Locomotive firemen and enginemen, and L. E. Sheppard, head of the conductors organization. E. F. Grabel, president, has announced his candidacy for re-election.

MUNICIPAL COAL YARD WILL OPEN

a lower freight rate to Lincoln of about 40 cents per ton. I am therefore able to sell this best central Illinois district at 40 cents a ton less than I could sell the southern Illinois district coal or what is known as Franklin county district coal, and the supply of the central district will be more uniform. While the chemical analysis of the Franklin county district coal sold last year makes a little better showing as to ash, carbon and heat units, it will be difficult for the coal consumers of Lincoln to distinguish one coal from the other when used in their stove or furnace.

"As to whether I will sell semi-anthracite and steam coal this year will depend upon the price at which the private dealers of this city charge the public for these coals. Any reduction in the price at the mine of this Illinois lump coal will mean a reduction to our municipal coal customers.

"Orders for coal will be taken at the municipal coal office, third floor of the city hall the same as last year. Telephone B-2138. Coal will be ready for delivery in about one week. While we will sell coal in any quantities that the customer desires, I would recommend that orders be placed for not more than two tons at a time for the present in the hope that the price of coal will recede.

"CHARLES W. BRYAN.
"Supt. Municipal Coal Yard."

CRIMINAL CASES FIRST.

The October term of federal court which opens Tuesday, will consider cases on the criminal docket before it takes up the civil cases, Judge T. C. Munger announced Monday morning. Judge Munger announced the list this morning so the attorneys present will have an opportunity to state when they could best present their cases. The cases are to be listed in an order that will suit the convenience of the attorneys as near as possible. Judge Munger announced. Three of the cases in the hands of T. S. Allen, attorney, will probably be postponed until after election as requested by Mr. Allen who is very busy with some campaign matters.

MINERVA'S MAIL
Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Comment and Compliment.

Dear Minerva: It is not often that I take the time to read your column, but when there is a bit of leisure I find much pleasure in your answers to the letters. The counsel you give is unfailingly wise, kindly, sane and wholesome, and I believe that in your quiet way through this department you are doing a very great amount of good. From my point of view you well deserve the name that you have chosen, and I have often wished that I might know you, for your outlook on life is broad, inspiring, and distinctively your own. There is a very sound and workable philosophy at the bottom of your thoughtful replies to letters that often seem extremely trivial and childish, and I believe your conception of the Scheme of Things keeps you very happy.

I read "Memnon" interesting letter, for I have had a few beautiful experiences very similar—and incidentally noted that men of a type that usually criticizes the flapper were thinking only of their own comfort when opportunity appeared. And I endorse her remarks on Saturday night shopping. It is very hard on the girls and I believe it is not necessary. I am a working woman, on duty from 8:30 to 5:30 daily, and though it is difficulty I manage my shopping in daylight hours. Most people are selfishly careless of the comfort of others, but I wish the stores would be content with less profit and have more regard for flesh and blood. Also, the allowance of less than an hour for noon recreation is indefensible, it seems to me. Sincerely yours—S. F.

A. Many thanks for your appreciation.

Play Game Fairly.

Dear Minerva: Please give me some of your good advice as I am very much in distress. I am a girl near my twentieth year and have been keeping company with a young man for some time. But lately there has come into my life another person that I have dated with and found him to be just wonderful. His character is ideal. He is a gentleman if there ever was one. I love him more than words can express and still I must admit that I love the first man as well. But the first man seems to think the world of me and would be simply broken hearted if he knew that I could love another person, but I do and still I love him.

This is the question. Is it possible to love two persons at the same time? Please tell me just exactly what I can do. Both men have proposed to me and one seems to be the equal of the other one. Shall I continue keeping company with the second one and not tell the first one? I do not want to get married until I am twenty-five or more, not that I am a man hater but I want my freedom.—A TRUE LOVER.

A. You are not a lover, true or otherwise, for you are not in love. The girl who is in love does not worry about retaining her freedom; she wants "her man" and to make a home for him. Nor does she find another man that she loves just as well.

Either of these men may be potential affinities for you, that is you might learn to love one of them. But at the present date the emotion you have is only liking and admiration. Play your game fairly. Do not let the first man think you are going with him exclusively, meanwhile going with another man on the sly. Tell them both you are free and unattached, wish to have as many friends as you may care to make until you are sure you love one then become engaged. To play a double game is the surest way to lose them both.

Dear Minerva: My sister-in-law is visiting us with her seventeen-month old baby and Minerva we have had to put everything up out of that child's reach. We don't dare leave the tablecloth on the table without someone on guard for the child makes a grab for it, and off it goes and whatever was on it on the floor. We had to put the vases, books and such things all out of reach. Now my sister-in-law says the child is not old enough to understand and I say she is. What is your opinion.—DISGUSTED.

A. A child at seventeen months is certainly able to understand what "yes" and "no" mean, and understand discipline. The mother is making a serious mistake to permit the baby to be such a nuisance. She should speak gently but firmly when the baby touches things he should leave alone, and then when she says "no" she should not let him do it just because he cries. A few slaps on the hand may be necessary to teach the now spoiled child that he cannot have his way about everything, and that there are things which children must not bother. The mother must never threaten a child and never say what she does not mean. It is never too early to teach obedience.

Would Continue Education.

Dear Minerva: I am a girl twenty-two years of age and my main trouble is that I haven't sufficient education to do things which really require brain work, as I have only had a sixth-grade education. Will you please tell me how I could go on with the rest of the grades? I work during the day and would you advise me to get a private tutor for the evenings from 5 m. on or what would be best as I am very desirous of continuing.—MABEL.

A. A private tutor would be one way of solving the problem. Or you might wish to go to night school, either at the extension night school offered by Lincoln's public schools, or to a business college. The latter might better suit your purpose. You could take the straight courses of arithmetic, reading, etc., and also a commercial course.

Children Left Out.

Dear Minerva: I wish to express my opinion in regard to the admittance of children to the state fair. The state fair board thought they did a great thing for the people when they lowered the admission from seventy-five cents to fifty cents. It has been said that the fair was a great means of educating children and that schools should remain closed so that they may have the chance to go. If that was so, why did they not admit children up to the age of sixteen in free? In reality they lowered it for the man and his wife, only to make the cost fall on the man with the family of five or six children probably three or four of them under twelve years of age. Those old tight-wads at the gate who took fifty cent coins from the children or else turned them away. I wonder if their children paid or did they have passes. No wonder the Lincoln attendance fell below that of other years; it is time the people are waking up and see what's going on. I have spoken to a great many and they all say the same thing. I would like to hear from others on this subject.—INTERESTED CITIZEN.

SLICK SCHEME TO FOOL DRY AGENTS

Say Wisner Man Had Bottle Suspended Over Thirty Foot Chute.

Hyers and Carroll Also Make Arrests at Bruno and Brainard.

Many clever ideas are worked out by bootleggers and dispensers of bootleggers and dispensers of liquor to fool the officers and keep them from securing the evidence, but the scheme alleged to have been used by Paul Kracher of Wisner is said by State Sheriff Gus Hyers and Federal Prohibition Agent Tom Carroll to be the most ingenious they have come across. Kracher is a former saloon keeper and has been operating a soft drink parlor since the eighteenth amendment went into effect. According to Hyers, many complaints had been made by women at Wisner, claiming that their husbands and sons had become intoxicated after visiting Kracher's place.

Hyers, Carroll and Federal Agent Battan strolled into Kracher's soft drink parlor Sunday. Before the proprietor was aware of the intention, two of them held him while the third vaulted the counter and seized several bottles of alleged moonshine liquor. The bottles were in a pasteboard box suspended by a string over a chute which dropped sheer thirty feet. A jerk of the string and all of the evidence would have been out of the officers' reach.

Kracher and his assistant, Emery Worrell, were brought to Lincoln and lodged in the city jail Monday morning.

State Sheriff Hyers and Deputies Schmitt and Jones made a visit late Saturday night to Bruno and Brainard, Neb. At Brainard they arrested an employe of the soft drink parlor and Lodie Janacek, the proprietor was ordered to appear at Lincoln Monday morning.

According to the state sheriff, both of these parties have been selling intoxicating liquor. A small amount of liquor was also found in the soft drink parlor. According to Mr. Hyers, the parties will be turned over to the federal prohibition department and he will ask them to close the places for a year.

The officers then proceeded to Bruno and there arrested Charley Korinek, and Jim Blatny. Frank Wondra who was out of the city appeared Monday morning at the state sheriff's office. According to State Sheriff Hyers, they have addidavits from various farmers of the community, who have been buying liquor in these places. Mr. Hyers stated that he will ask the federal government to co-operate with them in closing the places.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Rev. Abrahm Hirschberg, rabbi of Temple Sholom, speaking at the community Yom Kippur observerance, denounced the Ku Klux Klan for its bigotry, Harvard university for what he called it narrowness and assailed William Jennings Bryan for his fight against Darwinism.

"Judaism is against intolerance of every kind," he said. "It has no place for the blind, fanatical hate of a Ku Klux Klan, or of a Harvard university. The situation, that exists at that narrow institution could not prevail in any institution presided over by a Jew."

Quick oats now— 3 to 5 minutes

If you want oats that are almost ready, ask for Instant Quaker Oats.

This style cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. It is the quickest cooking oats in the world.

Just like regular Quaker Oats in that matchless quality. Flaked from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. They have the flavor which has won the world to Quaker.

But in Instant Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And the small thin flakes cook quickly.

Your grocer has both styles. The Instant style is marked "Instant" on the label.

A New Charm
Came to millions in this way

Millions of people have gained new charm through whiter, prettier teeth. You see them everywhere. The reason lies in a new cleaning method. Careful people of some fifty nations are using it today.

Test this method if you do not know it. People all about you have proved its importance. See what it means to you.

Combats the film

One purpose is to combat film on teeth—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. It absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Then it forms cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats film. So, under old methods, these troubles constantly increased, and beautiful teeth were seen less often than today.

Two ways found

To meet this situation, dental science searched for ways to fight film, and two ways were found. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants are embodied in it. Then dentists the world over began to advise its use.

Other factors

But Pepsodent brings other effects which old ways did not bring. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Thus it gives manifold power to Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. And everywhere this means to people a new dental era.

Watch the man

Men who smoke find that tobacco particularly stains that film. Such men see conspicuous results. But most people's teeth, of every age, are clouded more or less.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

That test will give you new ideas of what clean teeth mean. You will want your family to always have them, we believe. Cut out the coupon now.
